RECORD PLANE RIDES STORM

EVACUATION OF GERMANY COMPLETED

ALLIED COMMISSION CLOSED UP MONDAY AND TROOPS DEPART

GERMAN CELEBRATION OF EVACUATION WILL BEGIN AT MIDNIGHT MONDAY

WEISBADEN, Germany, June 30.—(AP)—The Inter-Allied Rhineland commission today closed up shop, hauled down the French and British flags over their headquarters and left Germany. So ended the commission's long career, at one period of which it ruled the destinies of 15,000,000 Germans in the occupied territories.

MAYENCE, Germany, June 30.—(AP)—The last troops of the French army of occupation exacuated Mayence today at 1:31 p. m.

The French flag was taken down at dawn from the headquarters of the Rhineland high commission at Wiesbaden and from the French general military headquarters here at 11:15 a. m. The last battalion of troops, comprising 800 men, are leaving early in the afternoon and France then will be out of the occupied territory.

But until the town clock marks midnight and the churchbells sound the "liberation," theoretical French occupation will continue. The German celebration is to start at midnight and continue until dawn.

There were a half million troops along the Rhine after the armistice, French, Belgian, British, Italian and American but as other nations withdrew and the zones were evacuated the army of occupation dwindled to about 25,000 men these last few months.

ROTARIANS TOLD ABOUT SITUATION STATE HIGHWAY 31

NAVARRO MUST GET RIGHT OF WAY OR LOSE VALUABLE HIGHWAY BY STATE

Musical numbers by Mrs. W. W. Binford and Miss Caroline Binford, a short talk about the situation on State Highway 31 in East Navarro county by R. J. Jackson, chairman of the goods roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce; and a classification talk by Johnny A A. Pierce, coach of Corsicana high school, featured the regular luncheon-meeting of the Corsicana Rotary Club Monday noon. President H. J. Ellis is leaving Corsicana for Detroit, Mich., to spent the next two months and Vice President E. H. Newton will preside during his absence. The program committee Monday was in charge of Beauford H. Jester, Earl W. Ellis and Johnny Pierce.

Next week's program will be in charge of the committee composed of Joe Jefferson, chairman; John C. Calhoun and Lloyd Wheelock.

Mr. Jackson said that the State Highway department had agreed to construct an 18-foot concrete pavement from the eastern boundary of Consolidated road district No. 1, two miles east of Powell, to the new bridge on state highway 31 spanning Trinity river, between Navarro and Henderson counties, in the event that Navarro county would procure the right-of-way and turn it over to the state. The speaker said that this road would cost approximately $40,000 per mile for the slightly in excess of ten miles. He said that a committee of Kerens citizens had been securing

Bank Robbers Lose Last Court Appeal Monday

DENVER, June 0.—(AP)—The State Supreme Court today denied the petitions of the Lamar bank bandits for a rehearing leaving executive clemency their only hope of escaping the gallows next month.

Ralph Fleagle, leader of the Lamar bandits, is to be executed the week ending July 12 and preparations already have been made at the penitentiary for his hanging.

The executions of George J. Asshier and Howard L. Roynston will be the week ending July 19.

Governor W. H. Adams has never interfered during his years in office with the course of law in cases of capital punishment.

Evanston Man Is Robber Objective Had One Dime

EVANSTON, Ill., June 30.—(AP)—J. D. Noble poked a pistol into the ribs of Mr. D. L. Eckberg yesterday.

The two men talked in low tones. Finally Noble pushed his pistol disgustedly back into his pocket, got in his automobile and drove away.

Mr. Eckberg ran for a policeman. He finally found one. They started pursuing Noble and eventually caught him.

"Arrest that man," said Eckberg, pointing a furious finger at Noble. "He tried to rob me."

"My, my," said the policeman. "You must be carrying a lot of money to go to all this trouble to catch the fellow."

"The amount of money on my person," replied Mr. Eckberg, "was a dime. And a dime, officer, is a dime."

TWENTY KILLED IN BATTLE IN STREETS OF MEXICAN TOWN

COMMUNISTS AND POLICE FIGHT WHEN PARADE PERMISSION REFUSED

TORREON, Mexico., June 30.—(AP)—The correspondent of La Presa reports that twenty communists and police were killed and eight wounded in a severe encounter in the streets of Matamoras, Coahuila, near here.

The dispatch stated that the communists sought permission to parade in protest against the government's arrests of communists in various parts of Mexico.

Three times refused, they decided to march away. Police blocked their path. The demonstrators opened fire on the officers.

Arturo Pena, chief of police, the report said, was wounded. He had given orders for a general attack.

Troops were hurried to the scene. The dispatch said they soon restored order.

Martial Law Prevails.

TEGUICIGALPA, Honduras, June 30.—(AP)—Martial law prevailed today in four departments ng the Atlantic coast. It was imposed by the government to prevent and curb communist celebrations.

Forty foreigners, said to be agitators, were arrested and deported when the military rule was made effective. Others were taken into custody and held, among them being the Nicaraguan leader, Robin Teperino.

A government statement charged that communist workers on the north coast had prepared a strike of seditious character for July 4. Fly sheets distributed throughout Honduras were said to have urged destruction of private property and demonstrations against friendly powers.

The departments affected are, Cortez, Atlantida, Colon and Voro.

FIRE IN BUSINESS DISTRICT CORSICANA SUNDAY IS COSTLY

LOSS OF SEVERAL FIRMS INVOLVED ESTIMATED AT $50,000; BLAST HEARD

Breaking into the open with an explosion that blew the plate glass windows from the front of the City Tire & Bicycle Company, fire that is believed to have originated in either the Sutherland Furniture Company of Marks Brothers' warehouses, practically destroyed the Beaton building on West Fourth avenue, between Beaton and Main streets with a loss estimated by Fire Chief Elmer Keith at approximately $50,000. One man was injured when a nozzle broke lose from its handlers while fighting the blaze.

After extensive investigation Monday morning, Fire Chief Keith stated that he believed the fire started in one of the warehouses, and attributed the explosion to the rush of hot air from the burning buildings when it broke into the open.

The quarters of the City Tire & Bicycle Company, a boarding house operated by Mrs. Letha Britton, and both warehouses in the rear of the building, occupied by Sutherland Furniture Company and Marks Bros.' were almost total losses, and the fire threatened adjacent buildings for several minutes.

Heaviest Losers.

Owners of the City Tire & Bicycle Company, dealers in radios, tires and bicycle parts and supplies estimated their loss at $20,000 with $13,500 insurance. The Corsicana Steam Laundry was damaged to the extent of approximately $100 by smoke and water, fully covered by insurance.

Marks Bros.' loss in the warehouse, which contained stored fixtures and merchandise, was estimated at $5,000 with $1,000 insurance. Water seeping in around the skylight on the roof of the Marks Bros. store across the street from the blaze soaked the drapery department and with damage caused by the dense smoke might run the

Pro Officer Killed In Auto Wreck Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 30.—(AP)—Roy W. Shafer, 22, Columbus, federal prohibition officer, was killed and Joseph Wolf, 27, Columbus, another federal officer, was injured seriously near Lebanon, Indiana, today when a truck in which they were transporting secret records of the prohibition department from Columbus to Chicago was wrecked against a telephone pole. Charles R. Hurlbut, deputy administrator of the Southern Ohio district, said he was advised.

CHICAGO NEWSPAPER ADMITS ITS SLAIN REPORTER SEEMED TO HAVE LED DOUBLE LIFE

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—As authorities began the third week of inquiry into Jake Lingle's slaying, a new gang killing, the second since Lingle's confronted them today with the death of Michael Gallichio, West Side hoodlum beer hustler for Joseph "Red" Bolton's gang.

Shot nine times, Gallichio was found dead along a lonely stretch of highway southwest of Chicago, a nickel tightly clutched in his right hand. Police saw this token as gangland's gesture of revenge, tagging Callichio as a "cheap guy—doublecrosser."

The killing apparently had been done at the spot where the body was found. Several empty .45 calibre shells were picked up nearby.

For sometime, police thought the killing had perhaps avenged the Chicago Tribune reporter's slaying, until the body was identified as Gallichio. The victim wore a belt buckle bearing the initial "F", and police at first thought the hoodlum might have been "Red" Forsythe, named as Lingle's killer, or Frankie Foster, Al Capone henchman who bought the revolver found beside Lingle's body. A check of the fingerprints, however, identified the body as Gallichio's.

The killing apparently took place last night but the body was not found until today.

Gallichio, according to police, had been known as a beer runner and hijacker, and authorities could conceive of numerous motives for his slaying, none of which seemed to link the shooting with the Lingle assassination three weeks ago today.

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)— The Chicago Tribune today, in editorial and news columns, took definite cognizance of the sinister rumors that have attached themselves to the carcer of its slain reporter, Alfred (Jake) Lingle.

It sets forth, editorially, that the first report of the state's attorney's investigators, which goes into detail concerning the reporter's finances, "would indicate that Alfred Lingle was killed because he was using his Tribune position to profit from criminal operations and not because he was serving the Tribune as it thought he was."

Pointing out the developments resulting from the investigation, the newspaper says:

"Alfred Lingle now takes a dif-

One Killed In Border Battle Early Sunday

LAREDO, June 30.—(AP)— Juan Espinosa, 35, was killed, Jesus Cantu mortally wounded and another man seriously wounded in a battle early yesterday between smugglers and border patrolmen on the Rio Grande. A third man was captured.

The fight occurred at the point where Chacon Creek empties into the Rio Grande, near the scene where R. W. (Red) Kelsay, border patrol inspector was killed several days ago in a fight with smugglers.

FIVE CARDINALS NAMED AT SECRET CONSISTORY ROME

POPE COMPLAINS OF PROTESTANT PROSELYTING, IN CATHOLIC CAPITAL

VATICAN CITY, June 30.—(AP)—"Protestant proselyting" in Rome must be combatted by an increased number of parish priests to serve the outlying quarters of the city, Pope Pius XI declared today in an allocution opening a secret consistory at which five cardinals were created.

The pope's allocution said that certain recent law of Italy which seemed to favor protestant activity "seem to whomever considers them well, to be in strong contrast with the spirit and letter to the solemn lateran conventions"

MAY LOSE STATE AID ON HIGHWAY POWELL TO RIVER

STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER SAYS RIGHT OF WAY MUST BE GOTTEN AT ONCE

Clay Nash, county judge, has received a letter from the state highway engineer's office to the effect that the right-of-way on the 10.955 miles of road from the eastern boundary of Consolidated Road District No. 1, two miles east of Powell to the Trinity River, on State Highway 31, had not been secured, and that the contractor whose bid for the drainage and dirt work was accepted by the State Highway commission at its April session was insistent on beginning work at once or having his bid revised.

Gib Gilchrist, state highway engineer, intimated to Judge Nash in his letteer that unless the right-of-way was procured immediately, the state would withdraw its offer to construct the road.

The State Highway department is to consruct this read in the event that the right-of-way is produced by Navarro county. Citizens of Kerens started some time ago to raise the necessary funds, but it is understood that only about half of the necessary amount has been raised. It is understood that about $4,000 has been raised by the Kerens community.

State to Build Road.

The tentative contract for the drainage and grading of this stretch of road calls for an expenditure of $157,933.44. The State Highway department is to defray all of the expense in order t connect the highway from the eastern boundary of Consolidated Road District No. 1 with the pavement in Henderson county on the same highway. The state and Navarro and Henderson counties have appropriated $250,000 for the construction of a concrete bridge spanning the Trinity River.

A special meeting of the commissioners court is to be held sometime this week to attempt to thrash

Teeth Are Substituted For Ears In Latest Invention Science Is Giving to World

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 30.—(AP)—The teeth were substituted in hearing for the ears in an invention exhibited today at the home of Dr. Frederick Bedell, professor of physics at Cornell University.

The professor's guests appears to sip their music through straws, as they listened to a phonograph, the sound of which was inaudible to the ears. The seeming straws were long pieces of wood, with sharp, pencil-like points. The listeners placed the sharp points on a tiny metal disc on a round, cloth-covered ball the size of a big fist, that concealed the mechanism of the invention.

The mental disc was a special receiver for the deaf, transmitting its inaudible vibrations to the wood. By biting the other end of the stick lightly the listeners could hear, and to two of the auditors, at least, the music sounded as perfect as when audible to the ear.

Professor Bedell said he perfected the device in hope that it will be useful for the deaf in listening to talkies and radio. The receiver would be placed on the backs of seats and the straw-like sticks would cost but a trifle. They are ordinary wood.

The sound vibrations pass directly to the auditory nerves through the bones. No ear drums are needed. Professor Bedell said that only destruction of the auditory nerves prevents hearing by the teeth method. He adopted it after consultation with members by the medical faculty at Johns Hopkins, who said that about two-thirds of the deaf could hear through teeth vibration, a larger percentage than could hear by any other single method.

The secret of the new receiver is the power of its vibrations. The strokes are shorter than those in sound receivers, but they hit harder. The difference is much like the famous six inches that some of Jack Dempsey's knock-out punches travelled as compared with the full arm swings of lesser fighters. The short, hard sound punch transfers to the wood a vibration of strong carrying quality, without distorting the sound.

The instrument is made to plug in a sound receiver or a loud speaker.

GOVERNMENT LIQUOR STORAGE WAREHOUSE RAIDED AND MUCH CONTENTS TAKEN BY GUNMEN

Police Admit Little Progress Robbery in Houston Hotel Sunday

HOUSTON, June 30.—(AP)—Police admitted today they were making little progress in attempts to capture two men who beat, bound and gagged J. H. Pengelly, general cashier of the Rice Hotel, and escaped with $10,185 in cash after placing Pengelly in a bath tub in a third floor room yesterday and turning on the water.

Pengelly was found about 8 a. m. yesterday by a hall boy, who lifted him out of the tub, removed the gag from his mouth, and the wire bonds from his hands and feet. The cashier was found with his head barely above the water level, with the faucet spouting water that kept the tub filled and overflowing in the upper drain. The lower darin was closed.

Woman Killed In Auto Crash

GALVESTON, June 30.—(AP)—Private Robert A. Colley and Corporal Y. B. Kuykendall of Fort Crockett were in a hospital today and Mrs. Ruby Reagan, 25, was dead, as a result of injuries they suffered yesterday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole and overturned near the causeway. Colley was injured internally and was not expected to live. Mrs. Reagan was killed instantly.

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—Fifteen gunmen held control of a government warehouse for three hours last night and trucked away whiskies, brandies and alcohol the value of which may exceed $200,000.

Included in the liquor stored in the two-story warehouse were 400 cases of bonded whiskey shipped to Chicago from Jacksonville, Fla., presumably by agents of Al Capone, and seized by federal agents.

Possibility that the raid on the warehouse was by Capone gangsters seeking to recover the seized liquor, is being investigated.

Paul Perry, night watchman, was alone when four men, each carrying a large can, appeared at the entrance. Perry thought they were federal prohibition agents bringing more liquor for storage, and admitted them. Gun barrels were poked against his side and he was bound, gagged and blindfolded. The gang leaders then admitted the others, and the three-hour job of carrying out the cases of liquor to waiting trucks was begun.

The raid on the warehouse did not end until shortly after one o'clock this morning. At least three truck loads were taken away, a hurried inspection revealed.

Police believe the raid may have been inspired by the desperate plight in which liquor syndicates have found themselves as a result of the recent police shakeup. The police theory is that a syndicate, finding its source of supply from outside Chicago endangered, arranged the raid so as to obtain liquor with which to meet the demands of its trade.

MINORITY REPORT ON NAVAL TREATY OPPOSED TO PACT

JOHNSON, MOSES AND ROBINSON DRAFT OBJECTIONS TO LONDON AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—In a minority report published today, three members of the senate foreign relations committee set forth their objections to the London naval treaty and urged it be rejected.

The dissenting senators were Johnson of California, Moses of New Hampshire and Robinson of Indiana. The pact was recently approved by the committee by a vote of 16 to 4, with Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, casting the fourth negative ballot.

The minority report stressed in particular the contention that the

"COLUMBIA" MAKES NON-STOP FLIGHT TO BERMUDA AND BACK

ROGER Q. WILLIAMS AND COMPANIES TEST FEASIBILITY NEW AIR LINE

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., June 30.—(AP)—The monoplane Columbia, veteran of a trans-Atlantic flight and once holder of the world's endurance record, had another exploit to her credit today, a non-stip flight to Bermuda and back.

Roger Q. Williams, a trans-Atlantic pilot, and Errol Boyd, steering the Columbia by the navigation of Harry E. Connor, hopped off from Roosevelt Field at 4:01 a. m. (E. S. T.) yesterday, found the speck of an island 800 miles away, circled about it in a tropical downpour then headed back, landing at Curtis Field at 9:03 p. m.

At Hamilton, Bermuda, the fliers dropped a sack of mail. In it was a cablegram addressed to Dr. Jas. H. Kimball, New York meteorologist, congratulating him on the

Investigators Continue Work On Car Blast

AMARILLO, June 30.—(AP)—Investigators continued today their search for clues that might explain the mysterious explosion Friday which killed Mrs. A. D. Payne, wife of an Amarillo attorney, blew her automobile to bits and seriously injured her son, A. D., Jr., 9.

Funeral services for Mrs. Payne were held here yesterday. The boy, whose left arm and leg were almost torn from his body by the last, was reported as improving.

Edward W. Thomerson, district attorney, was in Canyon yesterday investigating the case but did not divulge his mission.

HUNTER BROTHERS MANY HOURS AHEAD OF FORMER RECORD

NOW DETERMINED TO STAY UP TILL FOURTH OF JULY —TWENTY-THREE DAYS

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—Outriding a terrific thunderstorm and overcoming trouble in refueling, the Hunter brothers fought off sleep today to prolong their record endurance airplane flight over Sky Harbor. At 10:40 a. m., (C. S. T.) today they flew through their 451st hour and kept the "City of Chicago" nosed toward their intended goal, the fourth of July and 23 days of continuous flying.

Already they have eclipsed the world's record for such a flight by 31 hours, and their motor was functioning well.

On the ground watching with admiring eyes, was the rest of the Hunter family—three of them, a part of the flight—all of them from Sparta, Ills.

John and Kenneth Hunter pilot the endurance plane, worn, unkempt but determined. Walter and Albert, with "Big Ben," furnish fuel and food contacts with the record breakers. Sister Irene is still cooking the food that keeps Walter and Albert well and eager for the wearing grind, and Mother Hunter pats the back of her three children on the ground and sends words of encouragement to the two boys in the air.

The 67th contact was made at 8:40 o'clock this morning and enough fuel was delivered to last for some time.

Hundreds of persons thronged the field today to watch the wearying circles of the plane, which drones hither and yon not far from its base.

The flyers were urged on by many bonuses for each hour they exceeded the record set by the St. Louis Robin.

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—The "City of Chicago" swooped low over Sky Harbor at 1:00 p. m. today and a note fluttered to earth from the two Hunter brothers, who have already surpassed

Student Flier Drowned.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 30—(AP)—Search was conducted in Buzzards Bay today for the body of Omer Dumas, 23, a student flier, who was drowned when his plane went into a spin an ddived into the water.

Parachute Jumper Killed.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 30.—(AP)—Landing in a tree in his first parachute jump, Spencer Brown, 27, a student pilot of Creektowago, was killed yesterday when his neck was broken by branches.

He jumped at 2,500 feet from a plane piloted by George Terrill of Kenmore, N. Y.

Passenger is Killed.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 30.—(AP)—A gust of wind which turned a plane over 200 feet from the ground was given by airmen today as the cause of an accident which caused the death of a passenger and cost the pilot the lass of a leg yesterday.

William Kerr, 31, of Washington, D. C., and airplane salesman, died in a hospital.

Edward Yeatman, 21, of Clarendon, Va., was the pilot.

WCO THEATRE ROBBED.

WACO, June 30.—(AP)—Authorities today were searching for a man who last night held up J. Harrison, manager of a Waco theatre, and left with $650 in currency. The robber overlooked $350 in silver. A girl ticket seller was a witness to the robbery which took place in the manager's office.

The Magnolia Oilers won the first half championship of the Navarro County Baseball League by defeating American Well Gumbo Busters, 5-4, in the second game of a double header Sunday afternoon in the Municipal Park, which by a ruling of the board of directors would take the place of the contest called on account of darkness Friday afternoon.

Blooming Grove finished in second place, one game behind the Magnolia nine, defeating the Bazette nine Saturday afternoon, 5-3, on the Bazette field. Bazette remained in third place, despite the loss Saturday.

The Humble and American Well teams finished in a tie for fourth and fifth places with seven wins and 13 losses as a result of the 2-0 victory of the Gumbo Busters over the Humble nine Saturday afternoon.

Whites Chapel, with five wins and 15 losses ended in cellar position.

In the opening games of the second half played Sunday afternoon, the Blooming Grove, Bazette and Magnolia nines again took possession of the leaders' post with victories, while the Humble, American Well and Whites Chapel nines went to the bottom by virtue of their losses in initial games.

All teams in the league have materially strengthened their lineups for the second half and a great fight is anticipated for the championship of the last lap.

GENE MOORE CROWDS ECKHARDT FOR LEAD TEXAS LOOP HITTING

DALLAS, June 30.—(AP)—Unceasing in his attack on Texas league pitching, despite the torrid weathardt of Beaumont still was at the top of the league batting race through games of Thursday with an average of .410.

It became increasingly evident, however, the Shipper star is due to have some serious competition the rest of the way from "Little Gene" Moore, sensational young Dallas centerfielder. Moore continued to hit like a fiend, running his mark to .407, only three points behind the leader.

The remainder of the field was far behind the two pace-setters, as follows:

Schinkel (San Antonio) .367; Blake (Shreveport) .361; Fitzgerald (Wichita Falls) .357; Pratt (Waco) .356; Rye (Waco) .353; Cotter (Dallas) .352; Hunt (Houston) .352; Joe Moore (San Antonio) .352.

Leadership in other departments of the game was well distributed. Larry Bettencourt of Wichita Falls, with 22 homers and 72 runs batted in, was the only player at the top of the class in two departments. Bill Kelly of Fort Worth was pressing him for homer honors, with 18, Stuvengen, Waco, had knocked in 5 runs.

Hock, Houston, and Kloza and Levey of Wichita Falls were in a triple tie in runs scored, each with 65. Joe Bonowitz, Fort Worth, had the most hits, 113, followed by Eckhardt with 112.

Fitzgerald and Burns, Wichita Falls, each had banged 29 doubles. Eckhardt was next with 25. Tavener, Fort Worth, and Joe Moore, San Antonio, had hit nine triples apiece. Joel Hunt, Houston, ran his stolen bases to 27, pursued by Easterling and Holley of Beaumont, each with 25 thefts.

The race for pitching honors still was a wide-open affair with three chunkers very much in the running. Oscar Tuero, Shreveport's ancient Cuban, boasted the most impressive average, with nine victories and a single loss, but Hal Wiltse, Wichita Falls, and Allyn Stout, Houston, had rung up the most triumphs, twelve apiece. Stout continued to lead the circuit in strikeouts, with 87 to his credit.

Coaching Staffs Are Getting Lined Up For San Antonio Schools

SAN ANTONIO, June 28.—(AP)—Now that Harold Carson has been elected head athletic coach at Harlandale high school, with Ral Dixon his assistant, the San Antonio coaching situation, muddled for some time, is nearing clarity.

The official resignation of Roy Cochran, former head coach at Main Avenue, is awaited before his place is filled. Cochran announced he would resign and accepted a coaching position at Texarkana, but the resignation has not been received. The principal of Main Avenue has written for the resignation.

Claud Kellan and Manor uckett will be back at Brackenridge, Deland Wilkins will be re-engaged at Alamo Heights, and Earl English will be back at St. Mary's academy.

Carson and Dixon replace Brite and Keeling.

Roaming the Realm — or — County Sports

By DELMORE OLSEN

A meeting of the Navarro County League Board of Directors has been called for Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the office of the president, B. H. Jester, to discuss schedule matters and other things of importance dealing with the second half of the league which started Sunday afternoon.

The Magnolia Oilers, with a percentage of .750, winning fifteen and losing five games, led the teams at the half way post, one game ahead of the fast stepping Blooming Grove nine.

Practically every team in the league has added strength for the last half of the season and some great battles should be unreeled before the champion of the second half is crowned. Among the nines showing remarkable improvement are the American Well, Humble and Blooming Grove teams, with the Magnolia Oilers and Bazette team presenting about the same team as when the season opened. There have been few additions by either club, and both are capable of playing high class baseball.

The Whites Chapel nine would be a pennant contender if Manager Stover could pick up a couple of capable hurlers. His troubles in that department were partly solved when Nathan Crouch signed up with the team. Crouch has a very deceptive curve and a wicked slowball. In the two last appearances of the new addition, the opposition has been held helpless for a number of innings before the aforementioned tosser began to weaken.

With a little more practice and time to get in condition, the Whites Chapel nine will be assured of a winning pitcher. Crouch hald the Bazette boys helpless for seven innings Sunday before weakening and allowing the boys from the eastern portion of the county score five runs in the eighth and ninth innings to grab a 5-3 victory.

There is no doubt about the hitting of the White Chapel team there is power from top to bottom in the lineup and with additional strength in the box, they will have to be figured in the running for second half honors.

On the other hand, the Bazette nine is plentifully supplied with tossers, having at least five winning pitchers on the roster. The only thig that kept the Bazette team from winning the first half was the disastrous start, losing three out of the four first games. Since that time, the team has been playing sensational baseball and will be counted on strongly to win the second half.

The Blooming Grove team played practically the same brand of baseball during the entire season, winning consistently with Burns and Biggers alternating on the mound. Biggers has participated in more games as a pitcher than any other player in the league and has an impressive win as well as strikeout record. He is a practicallyn one man pitching staff and is as good a pitcher as can be found. He has a great pitching temperament, being able to pitch great baseball despits his teammates' errors. He is not disturbed by bobbles and is a dangerous hitter.

With the addition of Bondurant the Gumbo Busters seem to have solved a very difficult problem in the infield, the youngster cavorts around his portion of the field and in the double-header Sunday handled thirteen chances without an error. With Rash on first, Carl Ruth on second, Bondurant, shortstop, Shook, third, Hardy leftfield, E. MeaDniel, centerfield and Strum, rightfield, and with Newcomb, catcher, the American Well line-up looks great, but there is one glaring weakness, that on the pitchers mound.

The Champion Magnolia nine has been playing steady baseball, and have a team hard to beat. Contrary to the condition of most teams, the Oilers have several dependable hurlers in Wilson, A Ruth, and Gathwright. The remainder of the lineup is well balanced with Walter Sands on first base; A. Ruth and Odle working alternately at second; Robinson on shortstop; Andrews on third; Morris Sands in left field; Harper in centerfield; Ballew in right garden and Reagan, catcher.

The Humble nine, practically revamped since the first of the season shows promise of great power, with the pitching staff composed of Stancil, Robinson and Garlington ranking with the best of them. The infield is still shaken up, with Watson, one of the best fielders in the league out of the game with an injured back. In the event the team gets to going, they will be hard to stop, with Jeffers and Kent, former players on the Providence school team signed up. Jeffers will probably play second base or shortstop, with Kent holding down the initial sack.

On paper the league looks like there are six well balanced teams with the going rough for the champion during the second heat. It is a wtll known fact however, that the games are not played on paper and anything might happen on the field.

The Purdon Pewees and Richland Kid teams will play a feature baseball game here Friday, July 4th, in the Municipal Park, according to an announcement made by Charles Boffin, manager of the Purdon Pewees.

The two teams met recently with the Purdon nine getting a 7-6 win over the Richland nine by rallying in the ninth inning to score two runs. Both teams play heads up baseball, and it is a real pleasure to watch the youngsters play.

The Pewees have an impressive record for the season and will be anxious to uphold the prestige of the nine in the contest here on Independence day.

Nothing has been heard recently over the proposed organization of a Pewee baseball league in the county. There are a number of teams playing baseball in the county that could qualify for such a league, which would be sponsored by the Purdon American Legion Post, but the nines do not seem interested in the league.

Manager Ellis of the Streetman baseball team, was a visitor at the contests played Sunday afternoon in the Municipal Park and was high in his praise of the class of baseball played by teams in the league. There is a movement on foot to arrange a series between the winner of the Bi-Stone County League and the Navarro County league at the close of the season. Such a series would prove extremely popular and should be arranged if possible.

right-of-ways and had raised about $3,000. About $4,000 more is needed to complete the securing of the right-of-way.

Tired of Delay.

Mr. Jackson pointed out that the State Highway department and the contractor had become tired of the delay and the State Highway department had issued an ultimatum to Navarro county, threatening to withdraw the contract for the road and not construct it in the event the right-of-way was not forthcoming. Mr. Jackson outlined the advantages not only to Kerens but to Corsicana for the securing of this highway connecting with the highways in East Texas, and said that the highway committee would go before the citizens of Corsicana to raise the money at once. He said that the Navarro county commissioners court had stated that no funds were available with which to purchase the right-of-way in question.

Mr. Jackson said that the State Highway department's funds were low at the present time and that bonds had been voted in other counties in Texas which would take $18,000,000 in funds of the state to match them, and if Navarro county allows this opportunity of securing the 10-mile stretch of road for practically nothing, it will be a calamity.

He pointed out that the State Highway department had already prepared the surveys and blueprints for the the state highway 31 to go toward Waco via the Orphan's Home and that the road from the State Home to the Navarro-Hill county line would cost at least $500,000. He said that Navarro county stood a good chance of getting approximately $1,000,000 without any voting of bonds if this right-of-way in the Kerens sector was secured, but that it was highly probable that the entire amount would be lost if the right-of-way from the Trinity river to consolidated road district No. 1 was not procured immediately.

Johnny Pierce outlined the different physical condition of the various prospects for the football teams at the beginning of the fall training seasons, and of how the coaches conducted the training so that all would bet in the same physical condition by the time that the playing of games was started. He said that the coaches tried to get their teams into condition to win, and he also outlined the game of football as compared with life and life's problems. He said that physical training was as important to a person as mental training.

Coach Pierce talked at length on what is commonly known as "staleness" of football teams. He declared that the generally accepted explanation of "staleness" being a physical condition was erroneous, but that it was a mental condition. He declared that the work of a coach with his team was more with the mental condition of his players than was the physical condition.

The speaker declared that he expected night football, especially the early season contests, to be in vogue in a short time.

GEORGETOWN, June 30.—(AP)—Physicians said today Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Eggar, shot Saturday by a negro who was later shot and killed by a posse, would recover from their wounds.

Eggar's right eye was removed yesterday. It was said both would remain in the hospital for some time.

Rain Badly Needed In East Navarro But Crops Holding Up

KERENS, June 30.—(Spl.)—The cotton crop of East Navarro is holding its own and doing nicely, according to the size of the plant, but farmers say they never saw it as small as it is this time of year. They claim the corn is about two-thirds what it ought to be on account of the drouth. A rain in the next week will greatly benefit some corn and will also help cotton.

Sorghum, maize ,feterita and other small grains are made.

According to what the farmers and gin men say Kerens will not receive more than two-thirds of the cotton it received last year. Somep redict not over 12,000 bales this year against 19,000 last year, on account of the drouth.

CHIEF COUNSEL OF YOUNGSTOWN B. & T. COMPANY KILLS SELF

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 27.—(AP)—Trial of the suit for injunction to prevent merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company with the Bethlehem Steel corporation came to an abrupt halt today when L. A. Manchester, chief counsel for the Youngstown company shot and killed himself.

The motive for Manchester's suicide was not immediately known.

Judge David G. Jenkins was informed Manchester had shot himself as court was being opened for the third day of the trial. He ordered adjournment until Monday.

The shooting took place in Manchester's office.

The dramatic interlude in the trial folowed two days of opening statements and introduction of voluminous correspondence. Taking of testimony was to start today with J. A. Campbell, veteran chairman of the board of the Youngstown company, on the stand.

Manchester had been associated with Campbell and the sheet and tube company since organization of the firm. He was married and had one daughter.

J. C. Argetsinger, associate general counsel of the Youngstown company, heard the shot with which Manchester killed himself. He rushed into his office, located on the public square, and found the body slumped in a chair at a desk. Manchester had shot himself in the right temple.

Argetsinger declared the suicide was caused by a nervous breakdown due to overwork.

Yesterday Manchester received the last of the many honors that have come to him during his years in Youngstown. He was elected president of the community corporation, which finances 30 Youngstown charities.

In the steel merger trial he was associated with Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, who is acting as chief counsel for the various defendants in the suit.

The suit was brought by Myron C. Wick, Jr., of Cleveland and the International Share corporation as stockholders against the Bethlehem Steel corporation, and the Yonugstown Sheet and Tube company and directors. Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland millionaire is reputed backer of the anti-merger groups.

The merger was voted by the stockholders April 8, 1930, and the present injunction suit seeks to have Hahoning county common pleas court declare it illegal and void.

Court Hold Nurse And Professor Are Due Citizenship

NEW YORK, June 30.—(AP)—United States Circuit Court of Appeals today reversed the district courts of Connecticut and New York and held that Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, professor of theology at Yale, and Marie Averill Bland, Canadian world war nurse, are entitled to American citizenship.

Citizenship was denied Professor MacIntosh because he would not take oath to bear arms in defense of the United States in any war in which the country might become engaged, if he should believe the war to be in an unjust cause.

Miss Bland, daughter of an Episcopal minister and now a resident of New York, said she did not believe bearing arms against any enemy to be consistent with Christianity.

Miss Jessie Hamilton came in Friday for several days here. She is spending most of her time in Dallas with a sister now.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell and daughter, Miss Clarice Mitchell, of Hondo, Texas, formerly residents of Corsicana, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. I. D. McAfee and other relatives.

BEAUMONT SHERIFF SLAPS MOB LEADER TO ROUT GATHERING

NEGRO ARRESTED IN PORT ARTHUR WILL GO TO TRIAL WEDNESDAY

BEAUMONT, June 30.—(AP)—Because he refused to accept the assignment of the Criminal District Court to defend Rainey Williams, held in jail here on several charges of criminal assault, R. J. Jernigan, Port Arthur attorney, today was fined $250 and remanded to jail for contempt of court by Judge R. L. Murry.

Jernigan's refusal came after the negro, three times threatened by a mob in as many days, had been identified by a Port Arthur woman as her assailant.

The girl's story, told to County Attorney Marvin Scurlock, paved the way for the filing of a seventh charge against the negro, already indicted for six felonies for his alleged attacks on couples parked in automobiles on highways near Port Arthur over several days.

The negro's trial on one of the charges has been set for Wednesday.

Sheriff W. W. Covington and his deputies today continued to guard the jail, after mobs had been repulsed Friday and Saturday nights. The prisoner was rushed to the jail here from Port Arthur Friday to evade a mob which was forming at the city jail there.

BEAUMONT, June 30.—(AP)—Still heavily guarded, after three attempts had been made by mobs to seize him, Rainey Williams, negro accused of attempting to attack a white woman, remained in jail here awaiting trial Wednesday on the first of several indictments.

The last mob attempt upon the Jefferson county jail here, Saturday night, gradually dwindled to a small group of muttering men on a waterfront dock early Sunday. This group was summarily put to flight when Sheriff W. W. Covington, a stout man who looked haggard from his night of worry, arrived at the rock, accompanied by a number of deputies. The sheriff slapped a sailor who was haranguing the group and the "mob' fled in confusion.

The negro was accused of attacking couples in automobiles parked along roads near Port Arthur. After his arrest Thursday night, he was brought here in a fast automobile when a mob attempted to take him from the pail of Port Arthur.

Williams was named in six indictments returned by the Jefferson county grand jury Saturday. His trial on a charge of criminal assault upon a negress was set for Wednesday. Other indictments charged asasult, naming a white woman as the victim, and robbery with firearms and assault to murder in three counts.

Directors County League Will Meet

An important meeting of the Navarro County League of Directors has been called by the president, Beauford H. Jester, for Tuesday evening at 8:30 in his office. THREE AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION IS OPENLY VIOLATED

THIS IS CHARGE OF CHICAGOAN, TIEING SOUTH IN WITH BOOTLEGGING

IOWA CITY, June 30.—(AP)—F. J. Loesch, member of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, said today that a general violation of the fourteenth, fifteenth and eighteenth amendments to the constitution lends sympathy and aid to criminals escaping arrest and punishment for atrocious crimes.

Addressing the commonwealth at the University of Iowa, Loesch, the aged and fiery head of the Chicago crime commission, stated the eighteenth amendment has been violated openly or covertly throughout the entire country and that sections in the southern states have refused to abide by the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments.

Calling it a political error to allow illiterate persons to vote, Loesch said criminal organizations cannot exist without the secret protection afforded by municipal officers and by other powerful politicians in and out of office.

"The power of the gang," he said, "consists in the enormous sums it realizes from protected gambling and especially from beer running, so called, and imported or sold as imported alcoholic beverages,".

COURTHOUSE NEWS

District Court.

The April term which was scheduled to close Saturday night was extended by Hawkins Scarborough, judge of the thirteenth judicial district court.

The case of Lester Beauchamp vs. Jesse Beauchamp, partition, which was in progress last week, was still on trial Monday in the district court. The introduction of testimony was concluded Saturday. The arguments of the attorneys was in progress Monday morning.

The July term of district court is scheduled to be formally opened Monday, July 7, but only non-jury cases will be tried during the summer session. No jury commission has been summoned to draw grand jury or petit jury lists and it is understood that no juries are to be summoned for the term.

A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Hawkins Scarborough late Saturday in the case of the State of Texas vs. John Raley, et al, restraining and enjoining the defendants from the operation of an alleged dance pavilion, dance hall and resort adjacent to the Ward Bridge spanning Richland creek on the Corsicana-Waco highway.

The suit was brought by H. B. Daviss, county attorney, and the petition alleged that the said pavilion, dance hall and resort was a nuisance.

Lowly Pewter Has Come Back

By MARGERY TAYLOR
Interior Decoration Editor, McCall's Magazine, Written for the Daily Sun.

Pewter just had to come back, what with the popularity of English and Colonial homes.

It seems "just made" for the open dresser or court cupboard..

Old English and Colonial furniture, the new old-fashioned flowered cretonne and hooked rugs all demand pewter. Even if they didn't pewter deserves popularity for its own simple and charming sake..

In a room with cretonne and chintz drapes, for instance, an unusual but "homey" mantel treatment would have a grouping of pewter candlesticks, plates and jugs.. And for the desk in such a room, what could be more "right" than a pewter lamp of an old oil-lamp shape?

Now, too, the most modernistic of bookshelves and tables can have their harmonizing pewter.

The modern designer wouldn't let pewter remain old-fashioned—it is felt that the unobtrusive silver gray lustre was made for the plain surfaces in their designs. Pewter doesn't encourage extravagant and pompous ornamentation, as silver is sometimes inclined to do. That's why it isn't so appropriate in ultra-formal or elaborate period settings.

For that reason, also, in table decoration, pewter goes best with gay informal china and coarse unbleached liners, rather than with heavy silver service plates and fine damasks.

Strikingly attractive is a table set entirely with pewter.. The soft gray of the metal will show off its modest beauty very well against natural colored linen place mats with broad blue stripes. A centerpiece of blue candles and a pewter bowl of red tulips or pale yellow narcissi would be proper.

Pewter accessories, such as salt and pepper shakers, creamer and sugar bowl, candlesticks and tea and coffee ervices, get along pleasantly with patterned china—scenes or flowers..

And for color, there's ruby or blue glassware.

SIGNALS PASSED ROUND EARTH IN ONE-EIGHTH SECOND

EXPERIMENT WITH RADIOPHONE SIGNALS CARRIED OUT MONDAY

SCHENECTADY, June 30.—(AP)—Radiophone signals made a complete circuit around the world today in one eighth of a second.

For approximately 30 minutes, starting at 7.05 a. m., (EST), a talk by C. D. Wagoner, of the General Electric company staff here, was sent around the earth by a series of radio relays. The received signals, after traveling approximately 25,000 miles through the ether, were rebroadcast by station WGY.

The talk travelled from west to east. Mr. Wagoner spoke into a microphone at the General Electric experimental station W2XAD, 19.58 meters, and by means of a directional atenna the words were carried to PHI, the Eidhoven, Holland, station of Phillips Radio, which rebroadcast them on a wavelength of 16.88 meters to Bandoeng, Java, where they were picked up and relayed by station PLW, 36.5 meters, to Sydney, Australia. At Sydney, station 2ME, 28.5 meters, relayed the signals across the Pacific ocean and the Northern merican continent to Schenactady.

During the test, which is believed to be the first of its kind, radio engineers made a film record by means of an instrument known as the oscillograph which measured accurately the time of transmission as one-eight of a second.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR PRO LAW ENFORCEMENT CHANGES TO DEPARTMENT JUSTICE

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—Responsibility for enforcing the prohibition laws will pass tonight into the hands of the nation's legal agency.

At midnight the department of justice, following President Hoover's plan for strengthening the administration of the dry statutes, will take over the prohibition bureau from the treasury and inaugurate its enforcement campaign.

The move will place Attorney General Mitchell in the command of the dry forces and he will be aided by Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, as the administrative officer and Amas W. Woodcock, and Howard T. Jones, also lawyers, as director and assistant director of the division of prohibition.

Calling for state co-operation, Mr. Mitchell last week said that when the eighteenth amendment was adopted it was not contemplated that the federal government would create an enormous police force "such as would be necessary to enforce the law if the state authorities did nothing."

He added he would put forth a special effort to confer with authorities of each state "to secure that degree of law observance and enforcement" which, he said, could come only through the united efforts of the state and federal governments."

It is reported he will seek to have conferences called between governors of state and dry officers to evolve methods of more rigidly enforcing the law. Other reports have it that the attorney general will seek an increase in the number of prohibition agents with a view to tightening the enforcement it wet districts of the country and will concentrate upon those spots.

The transfer of the prohibition bureau will take away from the treasury for the first time the handling of the liquor problem.

IOW CITY, June 30.—(AP)—Frank J. Loesch of Chicago, a member of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, said today that if a transfer of prohibition enforcement to the department of ustice does not improve conditions, some modification of the eighteenth amendment must be considered.

"I have no sympathy whatever with so-called enforcement which involves the searching of homes for a few pints or gallons of contraband alcohol," Loesch said in an address at the Commonwealth conference at the University of Iowa. "That kind of enforcement had a negligible result on the total production of merchandised illicit beverages.

"The great defect of it is its uselessness in diminishing the total sale of illegal beverages. The searching of homes in that respect has, in my judgement, reached the very limit, if it has not passed beyond the right of a citizen to be secure in his home against unreasonable searchers and seizures."

Loesch said that diversion of large amounts of industrial alcohol into illegal channels has been a source of wholesale violations of the Volstead law and has been the pool for enormous sums of money wherewith to currupt politicians and the law enforcing officers."

"Wagons loaded to capacity with barrels of beer and cases of liquors could not pass from one state to another and through populous cities without being seen", he claimed, "if it were not for the blinding effect for bribery on corrupted officials."

"If the states will not aid the federal government in enforcing the 18th amendment and laws passed to enforce it,' I know of no way to control them to do so."

NEW PRO AGENTS TO WEAR INSIGNIA OFFICIAL DUTIES

NEW ORLEANS, June 30.—(AP)—Under plans for Robert E. Tuttle, prohibition administrator for the newly-created fifth district, the 200 prohibition agents under his purisdiction will wear regulation caps with an officer's badge on them, he said on his arrival today to take over the office and transfer the jurisdiction to the department of justice.

Tuttle's first objectives, he said, would be to survey the local situation with Eugene Smith, deputy administrator, to familiarize himself with the new order of things and to fill in with men in the offensive against any gaps that offer avenue for coast smuggling into New Orleans.

Next, said the new administrator, "I intend calling upon Superintendent of Police Myers, to ask his co-operation in the enforcement of the law. I hope to work hand-in glove with state and city officials."

CORSICANA, TEX., JULY 1, 1930.

A REMARKABLE RECORD

One of the best proofs of the progress made in this country since the war, both in industrial expansion and improved living standards, is found in the amazing increase in the production and use of electricity.

Since 1922 electric output has increased twelve times as fast as the population. As a result, we now use as much or more electricity than all the rest of the world combined.

Last year total production reached a new high record of almost 100 billion kilowatt-hours, an appreciable increase over 1928. While the average received per kilowatt-hour was 2.64 cents in 1928, it was 2.57 in 1929, according to reports from the industry.

Fuel, rather than water, remains the chief source of power in this country, and the industry has made a remarkable record in raising the efficiency of opeation, a concrete example of which is evidenced in Corsicana and surrounding territory. In ten years the amount of coal needed to produce one kilowatt-hour of power has been reduced from 3.2 to 1.6 pounds, and three times as much energy is now generated with but 37 per cent more fuel.

The industry has faith in the future of America. Its 1930 budget of $913,000,000 is the largest in its history, and six per cent greater than in 1929. Sixty-one per cent of the budget is being used for extension of transmission facilities and the rest for plant construction. The electric industry never falters in its endeavor to provide the American people with better service.

IN LOUISIANA

A bill was introduced in the Louisiana legislature and killed in the committee, providing for a "license tax" on daily newspapers amounting to 15 per cent of the gross receipts for advertising. The newspapers charge that this bill is the creation of Gov. Huey P. Long in retaliation for their criticism of his acts and policies.

In most states such a measure would secure nothing but a loud laugh, for it would be an unconstitutional tax on one business, and on but one branch of that business. The Louisiana bill does not tax weekly papers; it does not tax magazines published in the state. Yet weeklies and magazines also sell advertising space. Perhaps the measure is constitutional in Louisiana, but it is certainly inequtable.

Further, the philisophy of the bill is wrong. A tax on advertising would not be borne by the newspapers, but by the advertisers. Advertising is essential to their business; newspaper advertising is the cheapest and most effective form of advertisement. Therefore, business must advertise; and if an extra cost is placed on advertising, it must be borne by the advertisers in the first instance, and by their customers in the second. Customers could avoid the tax in but one way—by buying outside the state. The bill, if it had been successful, would be an invitation to citiens of Louisiana to buy goods in adjoining states, where prices would naturally be lower.

If this license bill is the measure of Gov. Huey Long's statesmanship, the newspapers that have criticized his governorship seem to have been completely justifid.

Women look better than men, but a man doesn't have to stay at home after he washes his head.

DREAM FISHING

A fishing trip I haven't had
In twenty years or more
Yet now and then a smiling lad
I push away from shore
To sit with rod in hand again
Where summer breezes blow
The self-same fish to land again
I caught so long ago.

Grim care has kept me prisoner here
And duty held me fast,
But still in rippling waters clear
At times a line I cast
Close to a weedy patch again
Where water-lilies grow
And happily I catch again
Those bass of long ago.

The reel I used is rusted o'er,
But still I hear it sing,
The boat in which I left the shore
Is yet a living thing
I keep the thrill and rapture of
Glad hours once mine to know
And oft repeat the capture of
Those bass of long ago.

Yes, still a fisherman a mI
Who dreams his way to sea
And knows whene'er his fancies fly
Just what his luck will be.
Though old in body, oft again
He stands with eyes aglow
And proudly holds aloft again
His catch of long ago.

INCORPORATED LAWYERS.

Lawyers in New York State are up in arms against the invasion of the "law business" by trust companies

These organizations now write wills, search titles and handle estates — fields, which a few years ago, were the peculiar property of the lawyer.

Moreover, the trust companies can advertise that they do these things, while lawyers are strictly enjoined, by professional custom, from publicly offering their services.

A bill will be introduced in New York to prohibit trust companies from advertising as executors. Such measures have been made law in New Hampshire, and in Washington.

It seems, in a way, to be poetic justice in the present plight of the lawyers.

They made the corporations, including the fiduciary corporations, possible. They set up gigantic mergers, and defended them from attack. They gave the corporate creature-of-law hitherto unknown powers.

And now the fiduciary corporation reaches out a minor tentacle and grabs the lawyers' business.

The increasing success of the trust companies in handling law business is easy to understand. They are "bigger," somehow, in the popular mind, than mere individuals. A man will consult a trust company, requiring no better reference than the size of its building, whereas he would want to know everything about an individual attorney.

The companies simplify and standardize that distressing process of getting things into proper legal form, handling huge sums and important papers as mere routine. They are a threat to the legal profession. But they are also an example of efficiency.

WACO GETS HOSPITAL.

Selection of Waco for the site of the veterans hospital was recently announced. The hospital will be a neuropsychiatric institution of 300 beds, and will be erecected at an approximate cost of $1,200,000.

The Sun joins with the citizens of Corsicana in extending congratulations to the citizens of Waco. Although Corsicana made a bid for the site—now that we did not get it—we are glad that Waco was the fortunate city and rejoice with them. Waco is one of the coming cities of the state and deserves all things that might come to the city in the way of progressive achievement. Waco boasts a live, wide-awake citizenship building for the future.

A local hitch-hiker has thought up a neat advertising scheme to attract the attention of motorists. He wraps his right thumb in a white bandage.

We suppose, now that so many useless things are salvaged at a profit, the sawed-off ends of shotguns are quite an item, just in themselves.

And yet we doubt if red theories have done more to retard civilization than red tape.

Ancient saying: "We can't afford it."

A STUDY IN CAUTION

AIRPLANE DEVELOPMENT.

Facts and figures prove the airplane is here to stay. The development of the ship of the air has been more rapid than any other mode of transportation. And the airplane industry is only in its infancy. It will not be many years before the plane will be as common as the automobile and as acceptable a mode of travel as the passenger train.

Airplanes carrying United States mail have flown a total distance equivalent to nearly 1,000 times around the world during the period from February, 1926, when air mail service was installed, to May, 1930, when the latest statistical report was issued, according to official records of the Post Office Department.

During this time, planes in service actually flew 23,760,017 miles, and as the equatorial circumference of the earth is computed to be 24,902 miles, it is estimated that mail has been carried a distance approximately equal to 598 times around the earth, figures revealed.

Flying at an average speed of 100 miles an hour, a single trip around the world would take about 250 hours, and to fly the total distance covered by air mail planes would take nearly 30 years, according to the figures.

Total weight of mail dispatched amounts to 10,350,322 pounds, about 5,175 short tons, the figures showed.

In amounts paid to contractors, a total of $21,293,657.06 has been paid out.

In 1926, nine routes were involved, while at the present time the number of routes has increased to 25, according to Department records. The Chicago-San Francisco route, which covers 1,932 miles, is the longest, and leads in totals of miles flown, weight of mails dispatched, and amounts paid to contractors. This route was established July 1, 1927.

What is needed in the governor's race in Texas at the present is more withdrawals. If it can be narrowed down to where there is only one "ism" in the run-off the voters will have at least an even break and the possibility of a republican governor will be greatly decreased.

The substantial increase in the population of Corsicana and Navarro county over the past ten years indicates a larger increase in the next ten years.

Man doesn't make the best use of his inventions. Electrical refrigeration has never been applied to the telephone booth.

SAVING YOUNG LIVES.

One of the few bright spots in the traffic situation is the condition respecting children, says the report of the third annual conference on street and highway safety.

At a time when the accident toll among adults is constantly rising, the nation's children are demonstrating that they have the intelligence, stamina and capacity for understanding the laws of safety that enables them to accommodate themselves to the conditions of a more hazardous world.

Six years ago, it is said, the value of teaching safety in the schools was problematical. Today it has been established beyond doubt that such teaching is a tremendous influence in the preservation of life.

According to statistics issued by the bureau of the census, if accidental fatalities to children had increased during the last seven years at the same rate as accidental fatalities to adults, there would have been over 3,000 children killed in traffic accidents last year, and 3,000 killed in other kinds of accidents, who are now living. Figures covering the last three years show a large increase in motor fatalities for adults, a smaller increase for children of preschool age, and a very important decrease for children of school age.

This does not mean that we have solved the problem of accident to children. Fine work has been done and is being done. Every school in America should give its pupils the teaching that will enable them to safely meet the hazards of daily life.

THE LEGION.

The local post of the American Legion, with Andrew Steele as commander, is rapidly becoming one of the major organizations of the city. Recently the local post entertained the Sixth District convention. A large number of delegates were present for the affair and all were loud in their praise of the entertainment accorded. In fact the delegates left for their respective homes with nothing but pleasant memories for "The City of Roses and Hospitality." Also the Legion auxiliary is growing rapidly with Miss Marguerite Garitty as president. The organization has doubled its membership in the past few days and expects soon to have the largest membership of any auxiliary in the state. These organizations are going to accomplish things in Corsicana. Watch them grow.

Careless people scatter danger wherever they may go.

A HABIT THAT IS GROWING.

Dairymen are the most cheerful farmers in the world. They seem to be getting the world eating out of their hands, or rather, drinking out of their bottles. Their business is growing.

Charles L. Hill, one of the ablest authorities on dairying in Wisconsin, and president of the National Dairy Association, announced in a recent speech that consumption of dairy products is increasing much faster than the growth of the population in this country.

"Milk consumption," said Mr. Hill, "has gained 30 to 35 per cent in 10 years. Now the American people are using 120,000,000,000 pounds annually."

Apparently the dairymen have little to worry about. There is but little fluctuation in the demand, for there never is more than 15 or 20 days' supply of products on hand, and this is true even including the supplies of butter and cheese.

"Farmers welcome the recent reduction in price of butter," said Mr. Hill, "for it means increased consumption. If we can have the price of butter stabilized at a reasonable price to the consumer it is much better for the dairymen than high prices. Right now the use of substitutes for butter has dropped off a great deal: that means more butter consumed and a steady market."

It is gratifying that legitimate advertising and other forms of popular education have brought about these wholesome results. It augurs well for public health.

All of us regret the Southern Cross was forced to land before reaching its destination but we also rejoice in the fact the ship and crew came to earth without mishap. The day is not far distant when great planes will be spanning the Atlantic on schedules maintained with the accuracy of any well regulated railroad.

Now that a son and heir has arrived in the home of Colonel and Mrs. Charles Augustus Lindbergh the flying colonel is in for a course of instruction that will make the spanning of the ocean seem like a joy ride.

CORSICANA NEGRO STILL HEADS STATE ORDER OF TABOR

The following account of a business session of the order of Knights and Daughters of Tabor, being held in Fort Worth announces the re-election of all officers including two from Corsicana. The article from Thursday's Record-Telegram follows:

All officers of the Texas division of the negro fraternal organization, International Order of Knights and Daughters of Tabor, including J. S. Adair of Corsicana, who for the past 12 years has served as chief grand master, were re-elected yesterday, the third day of the annual gathering. Sessions, which will be concluded Friday or Saturday, are being held at St. James Baptist church.

After the annual report of Adair, rules were suspended and he was re-elected unanimously.

The report of H. L. Smith of Waco, chief grand scribe, described the order as being in good financial condition, receipts for the past 2 months amounting to $133,719 and the treasury balance now totaling $45,954.08.

Collections for the year amounted to $132,358.30, O. M. Mayfield, Corsicana, chief grand treasurer, reported. The amount brought forward from last year was $12,017.44. In the tent department he reported $18,301.44 on hand. The report of the grand tent secretary, E. D. Johnson of San Antonio, also was given and accepted. Reprots also were given by W. J. Mann, field man and auditor, J. W. Fridia, medical examiner, and M. A. Elliti, r daughter of Tabor, who is grand queen mother.

F Rivers Barnwell of Fort Worth, state lecturer to negroes for the Tubercular Association of Texas, spoke on health and sanitation.

A talk on the Dickson Colored Orphanage at Gilmer was given by W. L. Dickson of Dallas. Rev. G. H. Washington of Fort Worth, spoke.

Reports indicated the fraternal order is growing.

MITCHELL PLANS ENFORCEMENT BY STATE-FEDERALS

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Attorney General Mitchell is making plans for closer co-operation between state and federal authorities in the enforcement of prohibition laws.

In a statement published today he made this known and outlined other plans for administration of the dry laws by his department, which on July 1 will take charge of the prohibition bureau now in the treasury department.

"The moral obligation to take measures to enforce the Eighteenth amendment," he said, "rests alike on federal and state governments. The power is concurrent and therefor the duty is concurrent. For these reasons it was necessarily understood that state governments and the federal government would each tak a part in the enforcement In those states which have repealed enforcement statutes and whose authorities do not perform a proper share of the work, there have been and will continue to be grave deficiencies in enforcement."

The department, he continued, will endeavor to "secure that degree of enforcement which can only come through the united efforts of state and federal governments" supported by "the large body of citizens" who believe the law should be respected and obeyed.

To bring this about, the cabinet officer added, "the department will put forth a special effort to confer with authorities of each state, or at least those who have enforcement statutes of their own, relative to the part the states may play in the performance of this difficult task."

A widespread rearrangement of present enforcement agencies is planned to take place with the transfer of the prohibition bureau The present 27 administrative districts, Mitchell said, will be reduced to 12 to conform with the judicial circuits, and the enforcement districts, 87 in number, will be left unchanged to correspond with the judicial districts.

A prohibition administrator will be in charge of each of the administrative districts and a deputy will be placed at the head of each enforcement district. All will be under the supervision of Amos W. W. Woodcock of Baltimore, who has been named director of prohibition, and of Howard T. Jones, assistant director.

Made Highest Grade In Piano Department

MISS CLOVER RUTHERFORD.

Talented fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Rutherford of this city, who made the highest average of the entire piano department of the Corsicana High school, her average being 99. She has finished her freshman year and is a pupil of Mrs. W. F. Senor.

Ethel Garrett Kaspar To Visit Former Home

Mrs. Henry Kaspar of Washington, D. C., who was formerly Miss Ethel Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Garrett of this city, is arriving Tuesday with her interesting little family to visit at length in the home of her parents. Mrs. Kaspar, who has had ten years of study and association with her distinguished husband, Henry Kaspar, foremost teacher of piano in Washington, is outstanding in the musical circles of the capitol city. Besides being a professional pianist who is greatly in demand, she is head of the piano department of St. Agnes School for Girls in Washington.

Mrs. Kaspar is planning to give a six weeks course in piano while here, which will be quite an opportunity for the more advanced students of piano in Corsicana. Her classes will begin July 14 at the Dockum Studio. Sometime between th first and fourteenth of the month, Mrs. Kaspar is giving a program at the home of Mrs. Dick Jackson for her old friends and prospective patrons.

Nurse Tells How CARDUI Helped Her

Mrs. W. A. Cox, a well-known professional nurse, of Burnside, Ky., writes: "I was in very bad health, and only weighed 110 pounds. I read in the papers about Cardui, and thought I would give it a try-out. After I had taken one bottle, I could see that I was improving. After I had taken it a month or two, I began to gain, and I weigh at present 168, and have weighed that for some time. I am now 55 years old, and can do as much work as the average middle-aged woman can.

"I would advise any woman, who is weakly and in a run-down condition, to try Cardui, but not to expect one bottle to make her well. I take two or three bottles a year, now, and I feel fine."

SMALL ACREAGE FOR SALE!

West of Corsicana

I have 150 acres of land west of Corsicana adjoining the beautiful estate of F. N. Drane just on the outside of the city limits of Corsicana. I will sell this land in 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 or 50 acre blocks, just as the purchaser desires.

This land in any size tract can be bought at a very low price, being an excellent investment, or an ideal location to live. Its elevation is the highest within a wide radius including the city of Corsicana, with the growth of the city approaching it rapidly. Conveniences are nearby, with beautiful view all around, and well located for dairy, poultry or truck farm, or for an attractive home place.

Being so near the city limits one can enjoy all of the advantages of the city without paying city taxes.

SECOND WEEK OF COUNTY CAMPAIGN OPENS ON TUESDAY

COUNTY CANDIDATES HEARD SATURDAY NIGHT AT RETREAT BY LARGE CROWD

The second week of the schedule of speaking dates begins Tuesday night, July 1, when the county and precinct office seekers go to Rushing, where they will speak at 8 o'clock. The first week of the speaking schedule adopted one week ago at a meeting of the candidates ended Saturday night at Retreat where a large crowd, including scores of persons from Corsicana, heard the respective candidates speak. Political followers and observers are all agreeing that indications point to the campaign waxing hotter as the time for the Democratic primaries approach.

Considerable interest has been engendered in the county attorney's race. John R. Curington, Cleo G. Miller, H. B. Daviss, present incumbent, and C. L. Knox are in the race. Miller and Curington are engaging in heated arguments and attacks, according to the political observers, and are paying their respects in no uncertain terms.

In the commissioners' race in precinct No. 1, Jack Megarity, present incumbent, is the target for attacks from Mack Fouty, George Boyd and R. S. Reid, other seekers of the post.

There are four regular scheduled speaking dates for the week with the possibility that another may be sandwiched in within a few days.

Rushing will be visited Tuesday night. On Friday, July 4, two speaking periods will be given, at Chatfield Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock and at Long Prairie at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

This week will be concluded at Purdon Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Teague Cleaning Up To Kill Mosquitoes

TEAGUE, June 30.—(Spl).—In the big clean-up and mosquito campaign being conducted in Teague committee chairmen are as follows: South of Main street, Mrs. B. E. York, Mrs. Julian Baggett, Mrs. Verloe Geppert and Mrs. Smith.

North of Main street, Mrs. Tom Calhoun, Mrs. J. M. Kiser, Mrs. J. R. Bell, Mrs. E. O. Price and Mrs. O. O. Jameson.

Southwest port of town, Mrs. W. M. Lindsey, Mrs. May Wickham, Gertrude Canady.

Northwest part of town, Mrs. L. F. Bain.

Hubbard to Have New Fire Fighter

HUBBARD, June 30.—The Hubbard council has purchased a new Ford truck chassis which will be equipped with the chemical engine. The chemical engine had been on an old car for a number of years.

The new truck will also be equipped with ladders and an extra supply of hose for the pumper.

Byrd Mascot Is Killed By Auto

MONTCLAIR, N. J., June 30.—(AP)—Schnuck is dead.

The fox terrier mascot of Admiral Byrd's flagship in his Antarctic expedition was run over and killed last night while on an expedition of his own.

Police buried the dog without recognizing him. But Mrs. Ralph Shropshire, wife of the hydrographer of the expedition, identified his collar today.

Schnuck was picked up at New Zealand by the Byrd expedition.

FROST RAPIDLY ARISING FROM DEBRIS OF TORNADO; CONSTRUCTION UNDER WAY

The Frost Enterprise, weekly publication, was issued Friday, June 27, for the first time since the tornado that caused such heavy damage and killed twenty Frost people and injured sixty-five others, struck this West Navarro county town on the afternoon of May 6. Mrs. Kate Simms was the editor and publisher of this paper at the time of the disaster and is still filling that capacity in a most acceptable way, if the appearance of the Enterprise on its initial appearance since the catastrophe may be taken as a criterion. The paper is full of news and well patronized by the Frost merchants, as it has been in the past.

Under the heading of "We Thank You," the lead editorial in part says:

"It is with gratefulness and thankfulness that we issue the Frost Enterprise for the first time since the tornado disaster. We are grateful to those people all over the country who were so kind to all of Frost people while we were in such trouble; we are thankful that we are able to be back in business again; that our lives were spared.

"Property damage is nothing compared to loss of life. We may accumulate earthly needs later on, but we cannot bring back the lives of those of our friends.

"Some of the friends of this newspaper were taken in the disaster and we shall miss them in business relations and friendly relations. We extend depest sympathy to those who lost relatives.

"We cannot but see good come out of so much which seemingly was bad. We are for a prettier and better town, and co-operation of the citizens shows that we will not be disappointed.

"Again we thank those people all over the country who assisted us by words and deeds.

"We thank the Frost merchants who have again made it possible for us to publish The Enterprise."

Under a double column heading, "Frost Repidly Rebuilding Homes and Business Houses After Tornado,' 'the following resume of the rehabilitation activities was carried, which give a comprehensive review of the reconstruction work, completed, under way and planned:

Building Resume.

After eight weeks, following the tornado, Frost and the surrounding communities have made wonderful progress in the rehabilitation of the business buildings and residences, but the crying need for many of the merchants is a place in which to move their businesses. Many of the owners of places of business were renters, and some of the buildings these men were in are not to be replaced, according to present plans of the owners.

Seven brick structures are now nearing completion. The foundation and walls of the Bonnett dry goods stare have been rebuilt, and T. F. Bonnett, owner of the store expects to be doing business in the new building by the first of August. The front of the building is to be done in tile.

The store next to Bonnett's which is being built by Dick Gaines will be occupied by Wade Smith Grocery. This business will probably be in operation by the first of July.

Lay-Heflin Co.

Lay-Heflin hardware company will occupy the two adjoining In the back of this shop there will probably be a beauty parlor.

Spanish Archtecture.

Beene Bros, furniture and 'uneral directors will occupy the two stores next to this. These uildings are being constructed Spanish style with cream color face brick being used. Spanish architecture will be carried out even to Spanish light fixtures being hung in front of the stores. Mr. Beene expects to be in his new place of business by August first.

Another building that is nearing completion is the Dr. Garrity building, which is finished with stucco. H. Wilson grocery will be in business here, probably by the first of July.

Work of repairing the building of Mrs. W. W. Hunter was begun this week. Warrenton grocery is still housed in this structure and doing business. Mrs. Hunter will also construct a building next to this which will be occupied by the former Corner Drug Store, according to Curtis Patterson. Mr. Patterson expects to be in the building within the next three of four weeks.

The blacksmith shop operated by A. W. Bird is now doing business in a new brick building of Rod Bason's.

Foundation for a new lumber yard office has been laid, and actual construction will be in progress within the next few days, according to L. A. Morgan, manager of the Frost Lumber company. "We won't have anything fine," said Mr. Morgan, "but we will have a new, modern office very soon."

There are thirteen business concerns that do not know where their permanent place of business will be. These are Ellis Coal company, P. F. Gill Grocery, Hightower Cafe, Home Bakery, Sanders Garage, T. S. Jarrett Blacksmith, Sheppard-Bason Motor company, Ivy Barber Ship, Littlejohn hamburger stand, Gerber Dry Goods, M. System, Frost Feed and Hatchery, and Slay Chevrolet company.

Plan Two-Story Brick.

Jerry Scott and W. P. Ross are planning a two-story brick on the ground formerly occupied by the Ed Patterson drug store. The upper story will be used by the Odd Fellows lodge. Next to this building will be a brick structure that will be begun as soon as the Stone building estate is settled and cleared away. This is the Wade Smith building, which will be occupied by Rip Blakes tailor shop and John Roman's barber shop.
mrhEcvmCMd..cmfw shrd shrdls

Plans are being made to rebuild the Citizens State Bank where they are now doing business. This will buildings that are also being constructed by Dick Gaines. They will probably be in their new quarters by the first of July. The front of the three buildings are finished in dark face brick.

Ross filling station is almost completed, being rebuilt on practically the same location, except for the twenty feet on the front to be used for the widening of the street.

The Heflin-Mitchell dry goods company will not be in business after they sell their present stock of goods, but Mrs. Ethel Cole will have a space in the building that is being constructed by Beene Bros. that will be known as Mrs. Cole's Shop. She will handle ladies' ready-to-wear and millinery.

OLD TRUNK FOUND CONTAIN NARCOTICS VALUED AT $120,000

NEW YORK, June 30.—(AP)—An old iron bound trunk which has rested unclaimed for two years in the baggage room of a New York hotel was opened today and yielded narcotic drugs whose worth was put at $120,000.

The trunk was shipped to the hotel bearing the name of "Mrs. A. Peck," believed to be ficticious. Labels on the outside indicated it had been shipped from St. Genevieve, Switzerland.

probably be a two-story brick, the upper story being used for doctors, dentists and other offices. The telephone company expects to have their office there, also J. B. Shaw Insurance company.

First National to Rebuild.

The original site will be used for the construction of a two-story building for the First National Bank and the Masons.

Next to this, V. B. Young, owner of the Frost theatre, plans to rebuild, but construction will probably not begin until the fall of the year. Mr. Young will install an all-talkie as he had before the tornado.

Carl Brown's meat market will be where it was formerly, when John Beck rebuilds, which will be some time in the near future, according to Mr. Beck.

Buildings Remodeled.

Dean's harness shop will locate in the Bob McFarlin building, which is to be constructed as soon as the owners of the buildings close by clear away the debris.

Merchants who have continued to do business in their original places and do not intend to rebuild are Big B cafe, Jitney-Jungle, Ross Brown's hamburger stand, Frank Johnson's tailor shop and the post office. These buildings have been remodeled.

Rod Bason is rebuilding one gin that will be completed by August the first; he also is completing a structure for a warehouse where the mill stood.

Mitchell gin is to be rebuilt. This will be a steel structure.

Slay filling station has continued to carry on business in its original place, but no definite plans have been made as to whether a new station will be construc ed or not.

A new frame debot will be constructed by the Cotton Belt railroad, somewhat smaller than the original building, but on the same plan. Time of the beginning of the depot has not been learned.

FISCAL YEAR CLOSES WITH SURPLUS OF OVER $200,000,000; DEFICIT FEARED NEXT YEAR

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—The close of the fiscal year of 1930 at midnight tonight will find a surplus of approximately $200,000,000 in the coffers of the government and gloomy predictions prevalent for the year of 1931.

At the close of business on Thursday a total of $4,151,057,206 had been collected and $3,938,536,837 spent leaving a favorable margin of $212,520,000. No large payments were in sight for the closing days of the year.

In opposing the enactment of the Johnson-Rankin veterans relief bill Secretary Mellon said present indications pointed to a deficit a year from now. Appropriations for the coming year aggregate about $4,500,000,000. A sum greater than the estimated governme.t revenue.

The same situation has prevailed in the past, however, and the government, nevertheless, has shown a surplus at the close of each fiscal year since the budget system was instituted.

Of the present surplus, $100,000,000 is the result of foreign debtor nations making their June 15 payments in cash instead of government securities. A sharp spurt in customs receipts just prior to the time the Hawley-Smoot act became law, also influenced the total.

Income tax payments showed the Wall Street collapse of last fall affected the returns of but a comparative few of the millions of tax payers. It had been expected the break in security prices would cause a material reduction in income tax receipts.

The surplus at the close of the fiscal year of 1929 was $185,000,000.

THORNTON MAYOR RESIGNS

THORNTON, June 30.—(Spl.)—E. C. Anderson, mayor of Thornton, has resigned his office effective as soon as the city council meets to accept it, he has announced. Mr. Anderson stated he desires to be out of the city much of the summer, and wants to be relieved of the post.

Saving is Easy

So many folks have the false notion that saving money demands privation and stinting. That's not so. It's real fun to save if you go about it in the right way. And the results are always worth the slight effort. For, very small sums, if saved regularly, grow surprisingly to worthwhile amounts. They'll bring you satisfactory safety and dividends if you bring them to this strong old bank.

It's never too early or too late to start a savings policy. Teach the sure happiness that awaits in careful handling of money and you've started the youngsters along a path for which they'll thank you in later years.

THUNDER, HAIL AND RAIN STORMS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

NORTHEASTERN PART OF UNITED STATES AND CANADA SCENE MANY STORMS

(By The Associated Press.)

Forty-eight persons were killed yesterday and last night in electric, hail, and rain storms that swept down over Ontario, Newfoundland and the northeastern section of the United States.

At Brockville, Ont., thirty were killed when lightning fired explosives aboard a drill boat in the St. Lawrence river.

Four passengers were killed and one was believed to have been fatally injured when a passenger coach of a train bound from Winnepeg to Toronto plunged into the flooded Vermillion river at Capreol, Ont.

Also near Capreal, the engineer of a freight train and six men, believed to be tramps stealing rides were killed as the train ran into a washout and was wrecked.

Several trains were stalled and many motorists were stranded by landslides and washouts at Sudbury, Ont., but no lives were lost.

A hail storm sank thirty boats at Lussden, N. F., and three fishermen were drowned.

Two were drowned when a gale overturned a boat at Buffalo. The buildings were unroofed, and a 35,000 barrel oil tank was fired by lightning at Olean, N. Y.

Lightning killed a nine-year-old girl near Hackettstown, N. J., and a farmer near Carlisle, Po. Heavy damage was reported in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and other Atlantic seaboard states.

Bolt of Lightning Cause Thirty Deaths

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 27.—(AP)—Explosion by a bolt of lightning of several charges of dynamite placed in the rocky bed of the St. Lawrence river was blamed today for the death of 30 men, killed when the blast tore the drill boat, J. B. King, to bits.

Only 12 members of the crew of 42 were rescued. These were picked up by the U. S. Coast Guard cutter, 211. Several of them were severely injured and were brought to hospitals here.

The drill boat which was owned by J. P. Porter and Sons of St. Catherines, Ont., was engaged in blasting a channel through Brockville Narrows off Cockburn Island on the eastern fringe of the Thousand Island group yesterday when the explosion occurred.

Several holes had been drilled in the rock and filled with dynamite and the day crew was drilling additional holes to place more dynamite when an electrical storm broke over the river about 4:30 p. m. Many of the night shift were asleep below the decks.

Witnesses said they saw a flash of lightning dart down to the boat, followed immediately by a terrific explosion. The air was filled with debris and the drill boat had disappeared.

Some reports were that there had been a large quantity of dynamite aboard the J. B. King which had been exploded by the flash. Luther Kuchenbecker, superintendent in charge of the work, who was ashore at the time, said there was no dynamite aboard the boat. He said the explosion was caused by lightning following the steel drills which were working in the rock, or wires leading to the charges which had been placed.

Leo Marion, an inspector of the public works at Ottawa, who was one of those rescued, estimated there were three tons of dynamite in the drill holes and expressed the opinion that there also was a considerable quantity in the boat. He charged that an unidentified boat passed at the time of the explosion, but did nothiing to aid in the rescue.

Among those rescued was G. L. Brown of Ottawa, a member of the night shift. He said he was asleep in his bunk when the explosion happened. He said he managed to reach a porthole and jump overboard before the boat sank. He was picked up clinging to a piece of floating wreckage.

R. A. McNeil, foreman of the day shift, another survivor, said that the boat seemed to disappear from beneath his feet when the blast occurred.

IN MEMORY

On June 13th, 1930, the death angel visited the home of T. F. Vest and took from him his dear loving wife, Mrs. Eula Vest. Mrs. Vest was born June 11, 1888, being 42 years and 2 days old at the time of her death. Mrs. Vest underwent a serious operation for appendicitis which was the cause of her death. It was so hard to give her up, but God knows best. She bore her suffering so patiently. Nurses and doctors did all they could but all was in vain. Weep not dear ones, mother is at rest. Strive to live a life to meet her on that bright and happy shore, where you will never part no more. Mrs. Vest will be missed at home and everywhere. She was such a good neighbor, always willing to help everyone in need. So kind in her home.

Mrs. Vest was married October 5, 1905 to Thomas F. Vest. To this union six children were born, two boys and 4 girls, namely: Mrs. Ott Price, Roy Vest, Mrs. Willard Lake, Ernest, Miss Evelyn and Mackie Vest, all of whom are here at the time of her death, except one son, Ernest. She has one stepson, Willie Vest of Hartsville, Ala. who was here. Mrs. Vest professed religion at the age of 14, and united with the Methodist church at Brushie Prairie, later moving her membership to Alliance Hall, where she was a member at the time of her death.

Death has claimed our loved one, claimed our mother dear. Sad and lonely is our home for mother is not here.

Our happy home is broken, it does not seem like home. Mother has gone to heaven and we are left alone.

Written by one who loved her.

Popular Wortham Couple Soon to Wed; Announcements Made

Wortham, June 28.—(Spl.)—Wortham's society date book has been one busy round of parties honoring brides-elect, but the one of most interesting events of the present time is the approaching marriage of Miss Mayme Weaver and J. D. Blankenship. No more popular young people were ever born and reared in Wortham.

On June 17 some two hundred guests called during a reception tea at the home of the bride's mother Mrs. Lucinda Weaver, when the mother and sister, Mrs. Joe Bates, jointly entertained with a beautifully appointed announcement party, which secret was finally disclosed in the lovely adorned dining room, where around the tea table delicious salad plates held the tiny hand-painted cards "Mayme Weaver-J. D. Blankenship, June 29, 1930." At this time will be a dream come true of childhood days.

Miss Weaver was beautiful and charming in her gown of lace of egg shell color, while her mother dressed in black chiffon, and sister, Mrs. Bates, selected an orchid attire, in their sweet hospitality, stood at the head of the receiving line to welcome their friends. Others in the receiving line were: Mrs. Bonner Meador, the groom's aunt; Mrs. Town Longbotham, Mrs. J. T. Drumwright, Mrs. K. W. Sneed, Mrs. J. D. Burleson, Misses Margaret Stubbs, Virginia Scott, Evi Hubbard, Eivlee Glover, and Dovie Glove of Coolidge, Ruth Suttle of Kosse, and Edna Bounds.

Mrs. Gussie Weaver passed the guests on into the dining room where Madame Slyde Bounds, T. E. Longbotham, Fred W. Horn and Joe Wayland received. Mrs. J. A. McKinney, in her charming way, received all the guests as they arrived.

Miss Weaver has named the following as her wedding party: Matrons of honor, Mrs. Joe Bates and Mrs. J. D. Burleson; bridesmaids, Misses Margaret Stubbs, Edna Bounds, Virginia Scott, and Ruth Suttle; best man, J. D. Burleson; Mr. Joe Bates to enter with the bride; groomsmen, Ernest Strange, Henry Meador Jr., Herbert Arch Burleson, Fred Love; flower girls, Mamye Louise Bates, Christine Bounds, Aurelia Jane Morrow and Winifred Horn; ring bearer, Tom Joe Bates.

The wedding will be at high noon Sunday, June 29 at the Central Presbyterian church, the Rev. Fizer Noe officiating.

PORT ARTHUR MOB FAILS IN ATTEMPT LYNCH BLACK TODAY

PORT ARTHUR, June 27.—(AP)—A mob of approximately 200 failed to get Rainey Williams, 38, from police officers here this morning.

Sliding the negro, who has confessed to eight attacks upon white women here in the past 30 days, the latest upon a young couple Wednesday night, down the fire pole in City Hall, Chief M. B. Word and his officers successfully fought off the mob until the negro was placed in Fire Chief Enright's speedster.

After firing several shots in the air, the fire car roared out of the fire hall with the negro in the rumble seat. The officers were taking the negro to Beaumont for safekeeping.

Fire Chief J. C. Enright had the motor of his speedster running and the negro was shoved into the rumble seat and the lid closed.

The mob made a rush for the car and had succeeded in opening the rumble seat and partly dragging the negro from the car when Officer Dewel Smith fired two tear gas bombs into the mob.

Two cars bearing members of the mob followed the fire chief's car in which the negro, Chief Word and Officer Dewel Smith were riding, but only for a short distance.

Word from Beaumont at 11:30 said the negro had been lodged in county jail safely by the Port Arthur officers.

The trip to Beaumont, 22 miles from here was made in 15 minutes.

The victims, eight couples, were all attacked at different times while parked in cars on the Texas company road, near the gate of the Gulf refinery.

The negro will not be given a preliminary trial due to high feeling here. He will be billed direct by the Jefferson county grand jury in Beaumont and tried there in criminal district.

CANDIDATES SPOKE FRIDAY EVENING AT MILDRED GATHERING

County and precinct candidates spoke in the interest of their respective races at Mildred Friday evening at an ice cream function sponsored by the parent-teachers association.

The candidates will speak at Retreat Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. This will be the closest community to Corsicana where the candidates will speak prior to the Corsicana date, July 25, the night prior to the democratic primaries, and it is expected that many Corsicananas will be on hand at Retreat tonight.

The speaking tonight will end the first wek of the speaking tour arranged at a meeting of the candidates last Monday, and also ushered in the increasing of the interest in county and precinct politics. The main attraction from the spectators' view is the races for county attorney and commisisoner of precinct 1, with the former holding the spotlight.

According to the reports of the speaking, some of the candidates in these two races are paying their respects to others in no uncertain terms.

Four more weeks of campaigning are before the candidates and fourteen regular speaking dates remain on the schedule with several other dates expected to be sandwiched in between the regularly scheduled dates.

BEAUMONT OFFICERS FRUSTRATE EFFORTS TO LYNCH NEGRO

BEAUMONT, June 28.—(AP)—The Jefferson county grand jury today returned six indictments against Rainey Williams, negro, accused of attacking several white women at Port Arthur. One of them alleged a capital offense.

A mob of several hundred persons last night were repulsed by Sheriff W. W. Covington and his deputies when they stormed the jail in an effort to deal summarily with the negro who was arrested Thursday night as he attempted to accost a couple parked in an automobile near Port Arthur.

He was rushed to Beaumont for safekeeping when an effort was made to take him from the city jail.

The capital offense indictment charged assault on a negress. One bill charged attempted criminal assault, three indictments were for assault with intent to murder and one for robbery with firearms.

Judge R. L. Murray set the cases for trial next Wednesday.

Continued reports of another mob being formed at Port Arthur to return here tonight moved Sheriff Covington to take extra precautions for the negro's protection.

BEAUMONT, June 28.—(AP)—Jefferson county officers today were preparing to resist a renewed effort to take from the jail, Rainey Williams, Port Arthur negro charged with a series of assaults against white women, should the mob violence of last night reassert itself.

Although he had ordered precautionary measures to deal with any situation that might arise, Sheriff W. W. Covington denied that he had received reports that plans were being formulated by the mob successfully dispersed last night to return tonight in greater force for an attempt to take the negro and deal summarily with him.

Everything was quiet within the vicinity of the jail today and word from Port Arthur said there was no excitement there.

After guarding the jail all night, Sheriff Covington went to his home early today to rest, leaving the county prison heavily guarded by deputies and policemen.

Interest centered on the grand jury, called in special session yesterday, which was expected to return at least three indictments against the negro. Judge R. L. Murray said the negro would be given a speedy trial as soon as the indictments were reported to him.

NEGRO SHOT MAN AND WIFE; RESISTS ARREST SOON AFTER

AUSTIN, June 28.—(AP)—Aroused over the shooting of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Eggar shortly before noon today, a possee of Round Rock citizens, a village near here, killed the negro who attacked the couple.

The negro was shot by the posse about one and one-half hours after the attack. He was located on the farm of Otto Stolley, about four and one-half miles southeast of Round Rock. He attempted to resist the approach of the posse and was killed in an exchange of shots.

The name of the negro was not learned. He was said to have been an employe of Eggar.

Eggar and his wife were taken to a hospital at Georgetown but it could not be ascertained if their wounds would prove fatal.

The negro was said to have gone to the Egger home about 11:45 a. m., and shot Egger through the head and Mrs. Egger through the breast. The shooting apparently was done with a shotgun.

The negro assailant escaped from the Eggar residence in an automobile and fled toward this city.

The crowd was thrown into a frenzy when it was unable to locate the 14-year-old daughter of the couple, it being believed for a time that the negro had carried the girl away with him. The girl, however, was found at the home of a neighbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Eggar were reported in a serious condition at the Georgetown hospital. It was believed Egger would lost the sight of his right eye. Mrs. Egger was wounded in the side and in the breast.

Both were wounded with birdshot fired from a shotgun.

The cause of the attack had not been determined.

After killing the negro, the posse was reported to have left the body lying in the field.

After shooting the couple, the negro fled but returned to obtain his clothes. Placing his wife in his car, he headed toward the capital.

The alarm was spread by the daughter of the couple, Willie May Eggar, who fled to a neighboring residence. A posse was immediately organized and was estimated at between 100 and 150 persons.

The actual shooting of the negro was said to have been done in Travis county by two men who had been posted along the road to watch for the fleeing attacker. The negro was said to have opened fire first.

After halting the car occupied by the negro, and his wife, the two men were said to have ordered the woman out. The negro was shot several times. His body was taken in charge of by Travis county officers.

No arrest had been made.

The daughter of the couple was in the residence at the time the negro started his attack. Later the name of the negro was given as Jack Robertson.

Robertson's wife was being held for investigation by officers. She declined to give out any information concerning the affair.

Confederates Hold Reunion at Mexia

MEXIA, June 30.—(Spl.)—The annual encampment of the Joe Johnston camp No. 94, United Confederate veterans, will open Tuesday, July 1, and continue through the week, at Jacks Creek reunion grounds. An elaborate program has been prepared, with something doing every minute. A rodeo, carnival, dance hall and other amusements are provided. The Mexia municipal band will play concerts twice daily.

STERLING'S FRIENDS PLAN COUNTY-WIDE CAMPAIGN ACTIVITY

Voicing the opinion that their candidate would be a great benefit to the state of Texas as its chief executive, supporters of R. S. Sterling, chairman of the state highway commission, for the office of governor mapped out plans for a county-wide campaign at a meeting held in the county court room of the Navarro county courthouse Friday evening.

John T. Fortson was elected county chairman of the "Sterling for Governor" campaign, and a committee composed of J. E. Butler, chairman; C. C. Roberts, F. N. Drane, Guy M. Gibson, Charles G. Jester, and H. R. Stroube was named by Chairman John T. Fortson as directors of the campaign activities. Plans were made to have mmebers of the committee visit practically every large voting box in the county within the next few days to secure large delegations to attend the meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon when Sterling will speak in Corsicana. Time and place of the speaking will be announced later.

Work of enrolling members in the "Sterling For Governor" club was to start Saturday morning, and preparations were made to circulate a number of petitions. It was also planned to organize Sterling clubs in each town in the county.

In accepting the county chairmanship, Mr. Fortson declared that Sterling was a big business man with the interests of Texas at heart, and with a desire to be of real service to his state. He declared he was worthy of the support of every thinking man.

Sterling Lauded.

Will Hall of Houston, former Navarro county citizen, and a longtime friend of the candidate declared that Sterling was "long-headed," honest, capable, and asserted that he was a business man and not a politician or a public speaker. He declared that he would give Texas a real business administration, would aid the rebuilding of the prison system just as he aided Texas with her highway problems.

Giving the governorship to Sterling would be rendering a great honor to Texas asserted R. J. Jackson. He will appeal to all classes, he said, because he had been a poor man for years, and maintained his friendships even after acquiring wealth. He declared that Jesse Jones, Houston capitalist, was a strong Sterling supporter and had said no more capable man could be selected for the place. Mr. Jackson declared that Texas was tired of petty politics and needed a real business man at the helm. He pointed out that his candidacy was based on the fact that he believed that he could be of service to his state; and also that has a member of the highway commission he had never accepted a penny for expenses.

Joe B. Fortson declared that he believed Sterling was the best qualified man in the race; and others announced their support of the Houston man for the office of chief executive.

Humble Continues Core Testings

TEAGUE, June 30.—(Spl.)—Although oil activities are not as intense as earlier in the year, the Humble company is steadily on the job trying to locate the proper place to drill on their holdings through the county, northeast to southwest, and now have core testing rigs at work, one a mile southwest of Fairfield, and another a short distance north of Teague.

Much of Limestone County Farm Lands Being Terraced

MEXIA, June 27.—(Spl.)—Limestone county with 27,500 acres of terraced lands, has more terraces than all of the state of Oklahoma, T. B. Lewis, county agent, learned on a trip to Stillwater, Okla., June 19 to 21, when he attended a conference of county agents from seven states studying soil conservation.

Mr. Lewis reported that government figures show 62 per cent of the country's terracing is on Texas farms. He believes this will mean much to preservation of soil fertility in this state, and is seeking to get every farm in Limestone county terraced.

Water Situation at Teague Cause Worry

TEAGUE, June 30.—(Spl.)—The water situation in Teague has become a vexing problem, due to the long continued dry weather. It has been necessary to take steps toward stopping the watering of gardens and lawns in order to insure an ample supply for drinking.

A special kind of water pump has been ordered, and it is thought that after it has been installed that the situation will be removed. 10hJ8her ,viviM be relieved.

ROBERT CONRAD WARD

Born July 25, 1890, died June 20, 1930.

By request of the sorrowing wife we write in memory of this beloved friend, who has entered the great beyond. He was afflicted the last eighteen months of his life, spending several months at a sanatarium. He was most wonderfully blessed with a devoted wife and mother—two of the greatest blessings that can come to anyone in martial life. We feel sure it can be said of both: "She hath done what she could."

He left most comforting evidence of being prepared for the everlasting rest. God's ways are not our ways. No man can answer the Divine call before it comes. Some, like Martha, hasten to meet Jesus, while others, like Mary, sit "still in the house," waiting the summons. The Master is come and calleth for thee." Sampson accomplished more in death than he did in life, and Jesus never began his public ministry until he was thirty. In the Bible story of the laborers, those coming in at the eleventh hour received as much as those, beginning in the morning. The gracious words and tears of this beloved friend were far more consoling to us than would have been twenty years of fruitless profession. How consoling to know we are saved by the mercy of heaven—that "where sin abounded, grace did much more abound." He told us a few weeks before he died he wished at times the Lord would call him. This shows the fear of death had been taken away, and a desire for heaven implanted.

After a brief service in the home and at the church, in which the Baptist and Presbyterian ministers of Streetman, together with the writer, took part, his body was laid to rest in the Cade cemetery amidst a large concourse of friends and a beautiful offering of flowers. May God in his mercy comfort the hearts of the sorrowful, and say: "Peace, be still," to the troubled sea of life.

FIVE CARDINALS NAMED AT SECRET CONSISTORY ROME

sects from 1880, the year in which the Italian troops took Rome from the holy see, "have not ceased to carry out the work of corrosion and conquest with ever-growing insistence."

Observers indicated their supposition that he had in mind the missionary activities of the American Methodists, although he mentioned no specific denomination.

"If we might tolerate that in the practical order of things these sects be called 'cults admitted' which under the Italian statute are well-denominated 'tolerated cults' we could not expect that those very cults should later be treated in a fashion that seems they not only are tolerated in full and admitted in practice but also not a little favored—This is something that cannot but aid the deplored proselyting."

Praises New Body.

The pontiff spoke gratefully of the "providential work" now being carried on in Rome by the Institute for the Preservation of the Faith. He referred to the new institute being prepared for the furnishing of churches and parish houses of Rome and its suburbs.

Referring to religious persecution in Russia and his now famous mass of explations in St. Peter's cathederal on March 19, the pope exhorted the cardinals to continue the crusade of prayer and ordered special prayers for the end of the persecutions to be said at the conclusion of every mass.

Referring to the Malta situation the pope, declaring it of the most serious nature, laid down three principles. They were that the Maltese tempest was not aroused by the holy see or Maltese officials; that the return of tranquility and peace "notwithstanding our sincere effective desire and the desire of the Episcopacy itself has been rendered impossible by the actions of persons and facts independent of our will, indeed, contrary to our will because of contrary interests of the Catholic religion."

The pope expounded another principle, "at no time has our intervention and that of the Maltese Episcopacy wished to enter the political field. Instead it has been limited itself, always, as was its strict pastoral duty, to recall, proclaim and inculcate those principles of moral law wherefrom Catholic conduct and actions can never depart."

Discusses Malta Situation.

The pope said he did not wish a limitation of liberty but solely protection and saving from degeneration into license and moral laws which regulate the use of liberty and indicate the confines between permission and prohibition and intimate respect for liberty.

The new cardinals were:

Monsignor Francesco Marchietti, 59, widely known in America, where he was auditor of the pontifical delegation at Washington.

Monsignor Faffaelo Carlo Rossi, 54, a carmelite, assessor of the consistorial congregation.

Monsignor Guilio Serafini, 63, secretary of the congregation of the council.

Monsignor Achille Leinart, bishop of little one of the youngest bishops of France.

MAYFIELD-YOUNG OVER $5,000 MARK CAMPAIGN EXPENSE

AUSTIN, June 30.—(AP)—Five candidates for the democratic nomination for governor and one republican candidate for governor made the first preliminary report of their campaign expenses to the secretary of state today.

Earle B. Mayfield, former United States senator, and James Young of Kaufman, both reported total expenditures in excess of $5,000. Mayfield's total was $5,442.43, while Young reported expenditures of $5,374.52, of which a small amount was unpaid when the report was prepared.

William Strauss, campaign manager for R. S. Sterling of Houston reported office expenditures of $1,534.12, with a notation that Mr. Sterling would send in his personal expense account.

Barry Miller of Dallas spent $4,366.75; Paul Loven, "wet" candidate, had expenses of $74, he reported.

The only Republican candidate for governor reporting, George C. Butte of Austin, had no expenses.

Reports of other candidates for state office were:

Covey C. Thomas, for chief justice of the supreme court, $762.70.

W. D. Girard, candidate for justice of the court of criminal appeals, $100.

Pat M. Neff, for railroad commissioner, $665.

S. M. N. Marrs, for state superintendent of public instruction, $108.75.

Cecil Storey, for attorney general, $1,534.12.

ferent character, one in which he was unknown to the management of the Tribune when he was alive. He is dead and cannot defend himself, but many facts now revealed must be accepted as eloquent against him. He was not, and could not have been, a great reporter. His ability did not contain these possibilities. He did not write stories, but he could get information in police circles. * * * The reasonable appearance against Lingle now is that he was accepted in the world of politics and crime for something undreamed of in his office and that he used this in undertakings which made him money and brought him to his death.

"* * * The murder of this reporter, even for racketeering reasons, as the evidence indicates it may have been, made a breach in the wall which criminality so long maintained about its operation here. Sometime, somewhere there will be a hole found or made and the Lingle murder may prove to be it. The Tribune will work at its case upon this presumption and with this hope. It has gone into the cause in this fashion and its notice to gangland is that it is in for duration."

In a newspage story under the signature of Robert M. Lee, city editor of the Tribune, a picture of Lingle as he appeared to his fellow workers is given. This account states that Lingle was understood to be well to do and not dependent upon his $65 a week salary.

"Eight years ago, Lingle explained that through the death of his father he had come into considerable money," the story said. "It is true that the records of the probate court have since revealed that this estate was around $500. No one on the Tribune ever took the trouble—before the murder—to look into this estate and ascertain if in fact the father's estate was large."

Lee's story traced Lingle's large acquaintanceship, not only among gangsters and police heads but also among lawyers, judges and financiers. The gangster acquaintanceships were looked upon at the time as necessary if Lingle were to be in a position to report properly and accurately the affairs in gangland. In view of developments since his murder, the story points out, some of these acquaintanceships have taken on a different significance.

The report of the state's attorney's investigators, made public yesterday, went into detail concerning Lingle's money affairs as revealed by a survey of his banking accounts. It revealed deposits running into many thousands of dollars, far in excess of his Tribune salary.

The report did not indicate from what source the money came, but said every effort was being made to find out. Sums running up to several thousand dollars were loaned to Lingle, according to the information the investigators obtained, by politicians and by men reputedly connected with gang affairs.

MAY LOSE STATE AID ON HIGHWAY POWELL TO RIVER

out the right-of-way problem, but it had not been determined Monday on what day the meeting would be held.

There are some who desire that the commissioners court put up the necessary funds, but the commissioners had indicated that they are not favorable to any such procedure in view of the fact that $25,000 has already been appropriated to the estern section of the county for the Trinity river bridge. It is likely that the chamber of commerce good roads committee may take the matter up with local business interests in an effort to procure the right-of-way at once, but nothing definite could be learned early Monday morning. R. J. Jackson, chairman of the local town Monday morning.

Believe Kerens Should Aid.

Many local persons have expressed the opinion that in view of the fact that the Kerens vicinity will be getting on 18-foot concrete highway through the community and connecting with highways to Corsicana, Athens, Tyler and other cities without the voting of any bonds for the approximate $8,000 that the cithizens there should raise the money. All agree that the losing of the road would be a calamity, but apparently nothing definite had been started early Monday.

It is expected that the situation will be clarified during this week, and some plan worked out. Several conferences were scheduled early this week, and the situation is being watch with considerable interest and anxiety by good roads enthusiasts.

BOYCOTT AGAINST BRITISH GOODS IS OPENED IN BOMBAY

BOMBAY, June 30.—(AP)—A "boycott week" against British goods was inaugurated here today with intensive anti-British propaganda.

A pouring rain dampened the enthusiasm of the nationalists early in the day but later congress volunteers paraded the streets, shouting revolutionary slogans.

A partial stoppage of work was part of the demonstration and a big procession is planned for tomorrow.

It is understood that the manifestants will appear to the public not to buy any British goods. Sidewalks will be chalked to show the shops handling British products, and in the professions the word "boycott" will be shouted again and again by men, women and children participants.

The government took another leader of the civil disobedience movement today when it arrested andit Motilal Nehru, acting president of the all India national congress, at Allahabad. Syed Mahmud, secretary of the congress, was arrested at the same time.

In addition the authorities declared the session of the national congress working committee, whic congress working committee, which had been sitting at Allahabad for three days, unlawful. Seals were placed on the doors of the committee rooms.

After his arrest the pandit nominated Vallabhai Patel, brother of the former speaker of the legislative assembly, to succeed him as president of the all India national congress and to continue the nationalist movement.

Nationalists of Allahabad, meanwhile, planned processions and other manifestations at the trial of Nehru and Mahmud, which begins tomorrow.

HOUSE AND SENATE DEADLOCKED OVER COMMISSION FUNDS

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—The senate and house became deadlocked today over the amount of money to be allowed the Hoover law enforcement commission for next year and the quarrel threatened early adjournment.

Chairman Wood of the house appropirations committee left the conference with senate representatives on the second deficiency bill saying the house would be asked to allow $250,000 for a continuation of the general inquiry by the commission as requested by President Hoover.

Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, who sponsored the senate move to limit the fund to $50,000 for a prohibition study alone, left the conference with the observation that any increase by the house would be subject to a point of order in the senate.

"I have an idea," he added, "that such a point will be made."

The senate and house conferees failed to finish anjusting the differences between the two branches on the bill and it will not come up in the house until tomorrow.

Meanwhile, President Hoover is ready to accept private contributions to complete the commission's investigation into law enforcement in the event congress stands by the senate restriction.

Three house bills included in the law enforcement commission's program were reported favorably to the senate judiciary committee today by sub-committees and will be considered tomorrow in a special committee session.

The measures are those amending the Jones act to provide for lesser punishment to petty offenders and defining petty offenses.

However, little hope was held out for action on the dry bills at this session. There is some opposition to the legislation in the senate.

GRAIN PRICES SLUMP

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—Grain prices settled back toward the season's bottom today as the movement of new winter wheat to southwestern market centers gained momentum. Corn and oats reached new low ground and wheat, losing 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 cents a bushel, was within a cent of the low records set last Tuesday.

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY NOTED PURE FOOD ADVOCATE, DIED AS RESULT HEART TROUBLE

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—Dr. Harvey H. Wiley, noted pure food advocate, died today.

He had been suffering critically from heart trouble for two months at his home. He was 85 years old.

Dr. Wiley died shortly after 2 a. m.

Chief chemist of the department of agriculture for almost thirty years, he led the fight which resulted in enactment of the pure food and drug laws. To the last he kept his eye on their administration.

Recently Dr. Wiley, although enfeebled, appeared before the senate agriculture committee June 3 to testify in its investigation of the pure drug administration of the agriculture department.

After giving his views, he returned home weaker and later decided the opinions he expressed had not been applicable to the inquiry in progress.

He was unable to leave his bed again so he wrote Senator McNary the chairman, that he had testified "under a misapprehension."

"I am a very ill man at the present time," the aged scientist wrote, "and I cannot prepare what I wanted to say, even if it were in order fore me to do so."

Last week Mrs. Wiley made the letter public. She appeared in the investigation, saying her husband, so widely known in his prime as a vigorous man, had been too ill in the weeks immediately past for her to repeat the progress of the committee's work.

When Dr. Harvey Washington Wiley became chief chemist of the department of agriculture in 1883 and took charge of the little cubby-hole laboratory in the basement from which the present far-reaching federal agency with developed, probably he did not know that he was embarking on a 30-year-war of his own. But 30 years brim full of battle and controversy under the 'pure food" slogan began for him that day; conflicts that were to demand repeatedly action by the president himself, and to end only when, vindicated and upheld by President Taft in his clash, the scientist resigned after stubbornly refusing to be kicked out o- the federal service.

There are as core of bloodless but bitter battles, history of which might be written on Dr. Wiley's honorable discharge from the official pure food army. There was the "what is whiskey" campaign in 1907 which revolved around him as the storm center; the "battle of Benzoate of Soda," which still was rumbling in 1909, and finally the "Board of Personal Offensive" in 1911. The board, in what was known as the Dr. Rusby case, recommended that Dr. Wiley "be permitted to resign." Secretary Wilson approved the boards report, but President Taft sustained Dr. Wiley and praised his work.

Dr. Wiley was born in Kent, Ind., Oct. 18, 1844, and Tanover College of that state was his alma mater although Indiana Medical College, Harvard and Vermont later awarded him degrees. His active career began as professor of Latin and Grek at Butler College, Indianapolis but turned soon to teaching scientific subjects in various colleges which led him to his federal post.

MINORITY REPORT ON NAVAL TREATY OPPOSED TO PACT

treaty fails to give America equality in sea power with Great Britain and that it will not effect a saving to the nation's tax payers.

The senate looked forward to the prospect of beginning debate on the past some time this week. It is to be considered at a special session to be called by President Hoover the day after the regular session adjourns.

Moses, who is leading a movement to defer consideration until November, attached a personal memorandum to the report in which he said "indecent haste" was being used in obtaining ratification.

The report said the three senators disclaimed militarism and jingoism and that they "have ever been and still are advocates of fair naval limitation and honest naval reduction."

"The minority," it continued, "demanded that no treaty in respect to the United States navy shall be ratified by the senate which is disadvantageous to our country; which precludes an adequate national defense; which affects injuriously the naval protection of our enormous and fast-expanding sea commerce; or which destructively deals with our relative position in respect to other nations.

"All these things the London treaty does, and because it does these things, and because it is neither fair nor just to the United States we oppose it.

"It is a noticeable and remarkable fact that a treaty for which so much is claimed, opposition to which arouses such a pretense of indignation, is presented to the senate without explanation or report."

Mr. Hoover is standing firmly upon his intention of calling the special session as soon as the regular session has ended.

"COLUMBIA" MAKES NON-STOP FLIGHT TO BERMUDA AND BACK

accuracy of the weather reports which he had furnished the fliers before the start.

The flight to the island required 9 hours and 19 minutes, the plane arriving over Hamilton at 1:20 p. m. The return flight was made in seven hours, 43 minutes.

The fliers said they had no trouble in finding the island although it is a low lying spot in the Atlantic and they were troubled with fog part of the way.

The purpose of the flight was to test the feasibility of commercial air travel between New York and the winter resort of Bermuda.

The Columbia was the plane in which Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine flew from Roosevelt Field to Germany in June 1927. Earlier that year Chamberlin and Bert Acosta established in the Columbia an endurance record of more than 51 hours, bringing the record to this country for the first time.

WOOL INSTITUTE CHARGED FIXING ADVANCE PRICES

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—The federal government struck today to end what it charges is a wool monopoly maintained by the Wool Institute.

Federal Judge Grubb of Alabama sitting in the New York jurisdiction, enjoined the institute and its 138 members from continuing violations of the Sherman anti-trust law, on complaint of government counsel that participants in the wool institute reported to it before every sales season on the subject of prices and "agreed to maintain schedules without deviation, thus eliminating all price competition."

Members of the wool institute control most of the nation's supply of woolen yarns and cloths, according to the complaint filed by the government.

The institute consented to the decree, presented to the court by James Lawrence Fly, special assistant to the attorney general, and John Lord O'Brien, head of anti-trust enforcement.

The complaint averred that the institute is a trade association with 138 member concerns or corporations, of whom 35 are spinners. On January 25, 128, and since that date, it was charged, the institute and its members "have engaged in a conspiracy to restrain and have restrained interstate commerce in woolen goods and yarns."

The government also alleges that the wool institute published "schedules to be maintained by its members," and that on December 11, 1929, agents of 84 weavers of men's wear met and established prices for the spring of 1930.

On December 2, 1929, the complaint sets forth, there was published an advertisement that "The wool institute is authorized to announce that the following member mills will definitely maintain their established spring prices on all duplicates of new business for spring, 1930."

Then followed a list of 105 men's wear milling concerns. A day later another advertisement listed 70 additional names and still later in various trade papers listed 132 mills. The name of A. D. Whiteside, president of the wool institute, is signed to some of the advertisements.

REPORT FERGUSON CAMPAIGN TO DATE COST ONLY $382.32

AUSTIN, June 27.—(AP)—Miriam A. Ferguson of Austin, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has expended $382.32 in her campaign thus far, according to a preliminary statement filed today with the secretary of state. She also reported $171 in contributions, ranging from $1 to $50. The $50 donation was made by J. S. McKelvey of Temple.

True Strong, of Nocona, candidate for senator from the 22nd district, reported expenditures of $25.35.

The largest expenditures made in any campaign have been made by Arthur L. Mills of Waco, candidate for the nomination for comptroller. He reported expenses of $1,215.35.

Edwin Waller, candidate for agricultural commissioner, spent $222.30, his report showed.

Picnic July Fourth In Chatfield Area

Farmer Warned Let Co-Operative Alone

SAN MARCOS, June 27.—(AP)—Judge Harry Dolan of Georgetown, candidate for congress from this district, in a speech yesterday at the annual barbecue in Henley, this county, warned the farmers to steer clear of the cotton co-operative marketing association. He directed his attack on O. C. Moser, head of the American Cotton Co-Operative Marketing Association.

OIL TEST ABANDONED.

WORTHAM, June 27.—(Spl)).—The Tidal Oil Company's Longbotham well, north of Wortham, was abandoned, a dry hole, at 3700 feet. Favorable strata had been encountered, and the well was watched closely here for several weeks.

FIRE IN BUSINESS DISTRICT CORSICANA SUNDAY IS COSTLY

loss in the store to $5,000, according to officials of the firm. Insurance amounting to $82,500 was carried on the main store.

Boynton & Calkins had seven cars stored in the destroyed building, but all of them were taken to safety. One car was slightly damaged and it was thount the loss would not exceed $200, covered by insurance.

The S. & H. Green Stamp Company, occupying storage space in the Marks Bros.' building, had a loss of approximately $1200, covered by insurance.

Loss of the merchandise in the Sutherland warehouse was estimated at $3,000 with $2,000 insurance. Furnishings in the boarding house on the second floor of the building owned by L. E. McCormick, were destroyed with a loss estimated at $1,000 with no insurance.

Building Damaged $15,000.

The building was owned by the Beaton estate, and the loss was estimated at $15,000, with insurance amounting to $12,000.

Power lines in the business section were cut during the blaze and service was not restored until about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. More than 100 telephones were disabled when a cable was burned in two, but a crew was on the job making repairs within a few minutes after the firemen completed their efforts and service was almost back to normal Monday morning.

With the alarm sounding just as the majority of the Sunday schools were dismissed, hundreds of people flocked to the scene of the fire, and almost every church reported depleted crowds for the morning service. The congregation of the First Presbyterian church was dismissed after a very brief service. The church is located one block west of the scene of the conflagration.

All Equipment Responds.

The fire alarm sounded at 10:35 o'clock and scores and scores of people of the streets immediately were aware that it was a down town alarm when the entire fire-fighting apparatus dashed out of the municipal building.(Firemen and hundreds of others ran after the speeding pumpers and other fire apparatus and hurried and frenzied efforts were made to ascertain whether all of the persons inside had gotten to safety.

Within a few minutes a careful check had been made and it was found that all had reached safety and line after line of hose was connected to the pumpers as well as from plugs, and in a short time, fourteen lines of hose were being played on the building. The building was afire all over in a few minutes.

Many Aid Firemen.

About fifty volunteers, including several negroes, fought valiantly for an hour before the building was under control. Many were heard to remark that they did not see how the firemen kept the blaze confined to the one building. Several lines of hose were pulled to the roof of the laundry, adjacent to the burned building, where the fire was kept from spreading in addition to being played on the walls and into the second story of the burning structure.

A number of lines were played continually into the front of the building, both on the first and second stories while three lines were brought from a pumper stationed on West Fifth avenue and carried through the alley to combat the blaze from the rear.

Protect Adjoining Buildings.

One line was carried to the roof of the building occupied by the Marks Bros. dry goods company where it was directed over the roofs in that block.

A line was connected \from the plug on the north wall of the laundry and another was connected from the plug at the corner of the new Firestone building at the corner of North Main street and West Fourth avenue. Still another line of hose was connected from a plug on East Fourth avenue and whs carried upstairs near Cunningham Brothers hardware and Sam Daiches jewelry stores where it was played on the roofs in that vicinity as well as into the second story of the Beaton Estate building.

Blast Is Felt.

Grady Faulk, one of the proprietors of the City Tire and Bicycle shop, stated to a Sun reporter that he and Lawrence McCarver, also of the same company were in front of the building at 10:30 o'clock and something they think was in the back of the building, exploded, and the concussion was so strong that is shattered the front plate glass windows. They did not know whether the explosion caused the fire, or whether the fire had started, causing the explosion. Faulk stated he did not have the slightest idea what exploded.

Thousands of people leaving Sunday schools were soon on the scene of the fire and the crowd extended several blocks. Police officers handled the crowds and directed the traffic, keeping the people from interfering as much as possible.

Street car and interurban service was disrupted for some time with the line of hose crossing Beaton Street from East Fourth avenue.

Entire Block Threatened.

By the time the firemen and others had assured themselves that everyone had been rescued from the burning building, the entire place was afire and for a time threatened the remainder of the block immediately north as a stiff breeze was carrying the clouds of smoke and embers on to the roofs of the buildings immediately north.

Boynton and Calkins, Ford dealers, had a number of new cars stored in the building between the City Tire and Bicycle company and the alley, but all of the cars were carried to safety.

Ambulances Ready.

The Sutherland Funeral Home had both its ambulances on the scene in a few minutes and conveyed the two ill persons carried from the building to places of safety and also carried M. E. Cornwell to the Navarro County Hospital where he was given attention for a badly injured ankle. He was hit by a nozzle. Mrs. Emma Smith and T. H. Ashton, both ill in the rooming house, were carried to the home of Mrs. T. A. Watson, corner of West Fourth avenue and North Twelfth street.

Mr. Ashton was in a critical condition, but in the excitement, arose from his bed and started out of the building.

The rooming house was operated by Mrs. Letha Britton.

Fire Commissioner W. P. Brown was especially complimentary toward the volunteer fire fighters who aided the regular force in fighting the fire.

Six Drowned In Texas Sunday; One Was Woman

GREENVILLE, June 30.—(AP)—Bodies of Julian P. Garrett of Dallas and Morris Ivory, Greenville negro, who were drowned in Greenville club lake Saturday night were found by a searching party today.

GREENVILLE, June 30.—(AP)—Further search was planned today for the bodies of Julian P. Garrett, Dallas insurance man, and Morris Ivory, 25, negro of Greenville, who were drowned Saturday midnight when the boat in which they were frog hunting overturned in the Greenville club lake.

The lake was dynamited last night without success, in an attempt to bring the bodies to the surface.

Garrett, who formerly worked on newspapers in Dallas, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls as a sports writer, came here with his wife and son Saturday.

TWO BATHERS DROWNED.

HOUSTON, June 30.—(AP)—Two men met death by drowning at the Bay Shore yesterday.

Robert Jennings, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Jennings, drowned shortly after 5 p. m., when he stepped into a deep hole while bathing at Kemah.

Marvin Cooke, 28, was believed to have been drowned at 4:30 a. m. Sunday while bathing at Morgan's Point. Rescue workers failed to find Cooke's body.

BROWNWOOD, June 30.—(AP)—Burton Wester, 19, automobile mechanic formerly of Fort Worth, was drowned yesterday in Jim Nance creek near here while wading.

LAREDO, June 30.—(AP)—Dynamite was used today in an attempt to bring to the surface of the water in the Rio Grande the body of Alvaro Leonard Tarver, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Rex Tarver, who drowned yesterday while swimming.

Allan Roy and Arthur McKnight, cousins of Tarver, attempted to rescue the drowning youth while his mother looked on. Allan came near going down in a whirlpool, it being necessary for McKnight to pull hi mout.

HOOVER RECEIVES ATLANTIC FLYERS AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jnue 30.—(AP)—Charles Kingsford-Smith and the trio who flew the Atlantic with him in the Southern Cross, today were received by President Hoover in the Blue Room at the White House.

Accompanied by Anthony Fokker, plane designer and builder, Bernt Balchen, Byrd's South pole pilot, and Eddie Rickenbacker, World War ace, the quartet earlier had dipped down on Bolling Field in a huge silver and crimson monoplane. They found officialdom massed to greet them. The assistant secretaries of aviation of both the army and navy were there, as were high ranking officers of both services and diplomatic representatives.

Sir Donald Lindsay, British ambassador, had placed his motor car at the disposal of the fliers, but Capt. J. Patrick Saul, co-pilot, found Wm. J. B. McCauley, charge d'afafires of the Irish Free State, waiting for him and Evart Van Dyk, Dutch subject, was taken in tow by J. H. Van Royen, the Netherlands minister.

President Hoover, busy in his office, arrived at the White House just in time to greet Kingsford-Smith and J. W. Stannage, radio pilot from South Africa, who were presented by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador.

Saul and Dyk followed in separate parties and wert presented by McCauley and Van Royen.

Thirteen Seeking Mexia Postoffice; Four Are Women

MEXIA, June 30.—(Spl).—In this year of candidates the most popular office, if number of applicants count, is not that of governor of Texas, but of postmaster of Mexia. There are 13 applicants for the post.

Civil service and postal inspection officials have been here gathering data on the various candidates for the office. Four women are among the applicants for the post now held by I. Newman, who also seeks re-election.

The three highest qualified will be certified to the president by the civil service commission, and the president will select one to be postmaster.

Applicants include: Mrs. T. A. Kindred, Miss Margaret Clark, Miss Ione McSwane and Mrs. Mildred Goodwin, I. Newman, Phil Karner, W. D. Hight, Tom L. Cox, Goldie Merrill, Edwin Carter, H. W. Tolson and two others.

GORED BY COW.

GEORGETOWN June 30.—(AP)—Gored by a vicious cow he was trying to milk, Sam Barnett, 79-year-old farmer, was seriously wounded near here today. Grandchildren of the farmer fought off the cow when they found it standing over Barnet in a field on the farm.

CAR REPORTED STOLEN

F. L. Seale reported to the police department Saturday that his Ford coupe had been stolen from its parking place near the First State Bank. No trace of the car had been found Monday morning.

HUNTER BROTHERS MANY HOURS AHEAD OF FORMER RECORD

the world's refueling endurance record by 32 hours.

Walter Hunter of the ground crew glanced at the note, and started on the run for the refueling plane. As he climbed aboard the "Big Ben" he was heard to say: "Seventy-five gallons of gas quick."

Then Walter and Albert went aloft to make contact for the 168th time.

Farm Boys Conquer New Element Sunday

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)— The Hunter boys—two farmers who turned from the plough to the plane --roared onward today in triumph through the skies, piling more hours on the new world's endurance record they established early Sunday.

The old mark of the "St. Louis Robin," 420 hours, 21 minutes and 30 seconds, was passed at 5:01:30 a. m. (CST) yesterday. At 2:40 (CST) today, the Hunter brothers—John and Kenneth—had kept their plane, "City of Chicago," continuously in the air for 445 hours with no signs of immediate descent.

Bucking time and tiredness, the brothers hope to remain aloft at least until July 4.

Although the record set by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine last July 30 in St. Louis was equaled at a minute and a half after 4 a. m. yesterday, it was necessary to remain aloft an hour longer to be clocked officially by W. P. McFarland and Major Luke Christopher of the National Aeronautical Association's contest committee.

Thousands Cheer Fliers

The cheers of thousands burst the suburban Sunday stillness at Sky Harbor airport when the plane came through the dawn with a new record on its wings. Half of this crowd had come early and the other half stayed late.

There are four of these Hunter boys, all from "Egypt"—that part of Southern Illinois named for the Land of the Nile. John is 27 and Kenneth 21; then Albert, 33, and Walter, 24, make up the ground crew that has contacted 166 times with the plane up to the last refueling at dawn today.

Their sister, Irene, also a pilot, cooks the meals.

From Sparta, Ill., where the Hunter boys were born to the farm, hundreds of congratulatory messages poured into the Hunter camp at Sky Harbor—and more hundreds of people charted busses, rode trains and drove automobiles to keep Sparta represented at the record-breaking.

Most of the messages were opened by the brothers' mother, Mrs. Ida Hunter, and then sent aloft.

"Every time we go up, John and Kenneth stick their head out of the cabin windows and grin from ear to ear," said Brothers Albert and Walter after one of their refueling trips yesterday.

Learned Flying on Farm.

The four brotners practiced aviation in the cow pasture back of the farm. They first rode motorcycles, they drove automobiles; then came the airplane obsession and they augmented their farm cash by working in coal mines to scrape enough together to buy a second hand plane. It was an old Standard—then ready for the scrap heap. Walter learned to fly first—he went alone from St. Louis to Sparta and then taught his brothers.

Then came barnstorming tours—with Walter and Albert piloting the ship and John and Kenneth doing wing-walking and parachute jumping at county fairs.

John finally entered the air mail service; Walter got a transport plane; Kenneth became an instructor; Albert stayed in Sparta.

The "City of Chicago" is a second hand, two-year-old Stinson-Detroiter cabin monoplane, powered by a 300 horsepower Wright Whirlwind motor. The ship had been flown more than 75,000 miles previously to the inauspicious beginning of the present flight of 19 days ago.

An unestimated fortune awaited the landing of the Hunter boys. The record itself will be worth many thousands to them. There will be emoluments for endorsements of instruments used. There will be a percentage of the profits made by other planes at Sky Harbor which carried passengers attracted to the field by the endurance performance. Altogether the profits promise to run more than $100,000.

Futures closed steady: 2 to 11 points lower. Spot steady: middling 13.55.

ments and the recent issues of German reparations bonds in nine countries, now has the half-century job of settling German war indemnities to the allies.

The occupation of the Ruhr which the Germans called "invasion," was the high point in action in controversy and in psychological effect during the ten and a half years of the occupation under the treaty of Versailles.

When Germany was declared in "wilful default" by the reparations commission, January 9, 1923, Premier Raymond Poincare today took possession of the Ruhr, the size of Rhode Island, one of the richest spots in the world, with 4,000,000 inhabitants.

German Finances Wrecked

Before the occupation of the Ruhr ended the German mark had fallen and whatever the reasons, always a matter of bitter dispute, German finances were wrecked and the allies had to loan money to Germany to give her a gold reserve to start doing monetary business again.

German banks during that period ceased entering anything less than thousands in their books and the German mint came to printing billion mark notes only on one side of the paper to save ink. Finally it cost more to print most of the notes than they were worth before they got into circulation. The paper mark was used for wall paper and souvenirs.

Four Main Posts

Four principal posts of military operations controlled the three zones of occupation. The French held Mayence and the left bank of the Rhine to close to Coblentz, the areo the United States army garrisoned until the beginning of the Ruhr occupation. The British were at Cologne. The Belgians held the Aix-La-Chapelle region. Italian representaiton never was more than a formality.

In the begining the reparations commission had fixed 132,000,000,000 gold marks as damages Germany must pay. committee headed by J. P. Morgan gave the allies the suggestion that Germany ought to be able to pay a certain figure, given at the time as about 50,000,000,000 gold marks. Later the Dawes plan was adopted, providing a scale of payments without a total.

Last year the Young plan fixed payments and a total calculated as having a preesnt value at the time of about 37,000,000,000 gold marks, extending until 1988, payments the last 22 years being the exact amounts needed to settle interallied debts.

Holding Alleged Bank Robber

DALLAS, June 30.—(AP)—Dallas officers today were holding a young man who had been identified as one of a pair of masked men who held up the East Grand Avenue State Bank and robbed it of $11,000 on May 31. Weldon Miller, an official of the bank, identified the man. Three employes of the bank were tied and bound by the robbers after one of them had been forced to open the vault.

REBELS DOMINATE CAPITAL STATEMENT FROM CHILE SAYS

LIMA, Peru, June 27.—(AP)—Bautista Saavedra, former vice president of Bolivia, in a telegram from Arequipa, Chile, today said there had been a heavy loss of life in fighting in streets of La Paz, Bolivian capital, Wednesday night. His message follows:

"The rebels are dominating the situation, and I can assert that the only government positions are the Government Palace and Commercio street.

"It is known that the number killed last night in La Paz is great, among them many socially prominent persons."

Previous telegrams from the former vice president and exile had said that the military college, aided by civilian and other military elements revolted and defeated the loyal regiment.

Saabedra blames the president-resigned, Herando Siles, and the German commander-in-chief of the Bolivian armies, General Kundt, who has supported M. Siles, for the sanguinary disturbances. The revolutionary elements charged that M. Siles is attempting to have himself re-elected president in defiance of the constitution.

LIMA, Peru, June 27.—(AP)—Spurred by the martyrdom of a beautiful young Bolivian girl, who with stirring words had urged the men of La Paz to be men and strike in defense of their liberties, a mob in that city Sunday waked a vain and deadly battle with police.

The gendarmes, mounting machine guns on trucks, repulsed wave after wave of the enraged citizens, until finally forty or more lay dead on the streets of the mountain capital, and more than 60 lay wounded.

The demonstrators then took the bodies of the girl and a boy student companion whom the police also killed and carried them to every part of the city, exhibiting them as evidence of what was called an outrage perpetrated by those whose duty was to defend.

Again Monday when a public burial was sought for the dead the police dispersed the crowds with gun fire and others were killed and wounded. Public excitement grew and continues.

TWO CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR BE HERE PRESENT WEEK

Two candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for governor will speak in Corsicana during this week in the interest of their respective candidacies. Both speaking occasions will be held at the Navarro county courthouse.

Ross Sterling of Houston will speak in the county courtroom Wednesday afternoon, July 2, at 2:30 o'clock. At a meeting of his friends and supporters here last week, a Navarro county Sterling-for-Governor club was organized and John T. Fortson of Corsicana was made county chairman.

Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, one of the central figures in the "Hoovercrat" campaign in Texas against Al Smith, Democratic presidental nominee in 1928, will speak at the courthouse Friday afternoon, July 4, at 3 o'clock in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Sterling as present is chairman of the Texas state highway commission, and Mr. Love is a member of the Texas senate.

MORROW IN TEXAS.

DALLAS, June 30.—(AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican nominee for United States senator from New Jersey, passed through Dallas at noon today on his way to Mexico City to resume his duties as ambassador to Mexico. He is going by way of El Paso and Juarez.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—Almost countless train loads of wheat moving from Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas harvest field into grain centers today proved to be more than prices could stand up under. The volume of arrivals at primary points was about 2 1-2 times that of a week ago, but not equal to the record-breaking onrush of what a year ago. Harvest operations were reported as continuing with mostly ideal conditions.

Wheat closed unsettled 1 1-8 to 1 1-2c a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 3-8 to 1 1-4c down, oats a shade to 3-8c off, and provisions varying from 5c decline to an equal gain.

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—Influenced by rains in Canada, enlarged supplies on ocean passage, and by lower quotations at Liverpool wheat prices here went lower early today. A further depressing factor was big arrivals of newly harvested domestic wheat at the principal terminals Southwest.

Opening 7-8 to 1 3-8c off, Chicago wheat afterward declined a little more, and then rallied somewhat. Corn and oats were also easier, with corn starting 3-8 to 7-8c down, and subsequently keeping near to the initial range. Provisions held steady.

Fort Worth Cash Grain.

FORT WORTH, June 30.—(AP)—Good demand continued on the Fort Worth cash grain market Monday for al wheat offered although estimated receipts of 800 cars set a new record for June on this market. Exporters were bidding 93-94c for ordinary export wheat delivered Texas gulf ports. Mill bids ranged about 94-95c for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points with 13 per cent protein bringing 1c more.

Corn was slow sale as were sorghums. Oats and barley were wanted but offerings of the latter were light.

Estimated receipts of coarse grains: Corn, 8 cars; oats, 31; barley, 3, and sorghums, 5 cars.

Bids and offers ranged as follows, basis delivered in carloads at Texas common points, freight paid:.

COR.—No. 2 mixed 90-91c No. 2 white 95 1-2 to 96 1-2c; No. 2 yellow 94 1-2 to 95 1-2c.

OATS—No. 2 red 43 1-2 to 44 1-2c.

BAREY—No. 2 58-60c.

SORGHUMS—No. 2 milo per 100 lbs, 1,85-1,87; No. 2 feffir 1,50-1,58.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 88-89; No. 2 white 93 1-2 to 94 1-2; No. 2 yellow 92 1-2 to 93 1-2. No. 3 white oats 40-47, to which add 1c for delivery group three points.

FARM BOARD HEAD STRESSED NEED OF FULL ORGANIZATION

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Striking a new note in agricultural co-operation, Chairman Legge of the farm board suggested bringing all national farm organizations "under the same roof" in an address broadcast today from Washington.

He admitted a natural difference of opinion sometimes existed between the various groups but said collectively they could accomplish results much more quickly and to better effect.

The chairman's address stressed the view that as the end of the first year's operation of the farm board approached it became more and more apparent that organization is the fundamental step in the solution of the agricultural problem.

"With farmers organized," he said, "the adjustment of production and effective marketing of agricultural products would be comparatively easy. Unity of action is needed through every stage from planning and planting to marketing. The difficulty comes in getting producers to cooperate, chiefly because there is still a great difference of opinion as to how to organize farmers so that they may properly deal with their problems in handling particular crops in this and that community."

The chairman insisted there is really no reason why farmers should not go further in collective marketing than organizations of any privately operated industry.

In Farmers Own Hands

"That privilege," he said, "is in the farmers' own hands. Laws have been written in recent years to free farmers from the restrictions of anti-trust regulations. In fact, under existing laws the organization of farmers is permitted to an extent that probably never could be accorded to private agencies. There is no limit to the quantity of farm products that may be handled by groups of farmers who grow the crops and hold full right to sell them."

The great advantage that comes to farmers who mass large units of products, he said, is the better bargaining power thus attained than when they come to market by the thousands, each selling his own crop and competing with other individuals. Even an untrained group of farmers, he said, can market collectively to better advantage than the private agency which has no control over the flow of the commodity but takes the product as it comes.

"It has been clearly demonstrated in this country," he continued, "that producers of farm crops can so regulate the marketing of their products collectively that they never have a glut. If there is any surplus, they can keep it at home and save freight."

BOLIVIAN REVOLT SUCCESS; ESCAPE OF SILES CUT OFF

LA PAZ, June 30.—(AP)— Armed citizens today patrolled the streets in the vincinity of the Brazilian and German legations seeking to prevent the escape of Dr. Hernando Siles, former president, and General Hans Kundt, German chief of staff of the Bolivian army, who have been under diplomatic shelter during the Ballvian revolt.

With the revolution a success, those opposed to the Siles-Kundt regime have demonstrated frequently before the two legations.

Large processions filled the streets yesterday and great crowds assembled before the embassy buildings. Speakers demanded delivery of the refugees but there were no disorders.

Last night General Carlos Blanco Galindo, head of the military junta now governing the country, persuaded the demonstrators to return to their homes and not interfere with the departure of the refuges, but later armed patrols formed and continued today.

Another great procession yesterday occurred with the burials of the military cadets who were killed in the skirmishes of the last few days. Bands headed the funeral march, and after the burial services were over women of La Paz showered flowers upon those who had escorted the bodies to the grave.

In an interview today General Galindo and his principal associate, Colonel Oscar Marcia Pando, said Bolivian now would return to a normal regime. They added that communications had been restored and measures have been taken to insure order throughout the country.

One Dead, Another Fatally Shot While Repairing Flat Tire

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., June 30.—(AP)—Edward Greer, 16, was shot to death and his brother, Henry, 18, probably fatally wounded early today by L. W. Harry, filling station operator when they drove into his station here to fix a flat tire.

Harris said he thought they were stealing gasoline.

IN MEMORIAM

God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to call Aunt Molly Cleveland to her eternal home. The Death Angel had been hovering near the home for several days but the final summons came on Friday afternoon, June 20th, at 4 o'clock. To those who were watching it seemed that a voice was whispering gently in the sufferer's ear saying, "Come Home."

Aunt Molly had been in failing health for many years but her family and friends rarely ever heard her utter a word of complaint. She bore her suffering bravely and only those who knew hes best could detect her weakness of body, because her spirit was ever strong and true.

Having no children of their own Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland took into their home two nephews and a niece and later two grand-nephews. Aunt Molly opened her loving heart to these orphan children and it was with tenderness and deep affection she cared for them. The grief of these boys for "Aunt Molly's" going away is as for a mother.

To the heart broken husband and to the other grieving loved ones we would say, "Weep not as those who have no hope." As Rev. Stanley said, "Only look to that bright home above where she is standing at the gate." She is watching and waiting there for you to come. Can't you see her beckon and smile as she says, "Don't weep for me, for I am happy with the Savior in the House not made with hands."

To her family Aunt Molly was ever faithful and true, serving them and caring for their needs always. And to her friends, her door was always oven wide, her bright smile ready to greet them. She numbered her friends by her acquaintances, for to know her was to love her.

It is hard to give her up. The home will be dark and lonely but if we look with eyes that see beyond the shadows we will see her angel spirit hovering near to comfort and console our broken, wounded hearts. Let us permit "the light that never was on land or sea," to come into our lives and guide us as she did during her stay on earth. And when we are called we shall be able to answer "Ready."

—One Who Loved Her.

INFERNAL MACHINE WRECKS AUTOMOBILE BOY FATALLY HURT

WIFE OF PROMINENT AMARILLO ATTORNEY VICTIM OF EXPLOSION FRIDAY

AMARILLO, June 27.—(AP)—Mrs. A. D. Payne, wife of a well known Amarillo attorney, was blown to pieces, and her 4-year-old son probably fatally injured today when the Payne automobile was destroyed by what police believe was an infernal machine.

The boy was hurled 30 feet into the yard. The chassis of the car was left intact and the gas tank was undamaged.

Bits of wiring and pieces of dry cell batteries were found by detectives in the wreckage, and they said they believed either dynamite or some kind of powerful explosive had been placed in the automobile.

Payne had been a candidate for district judge but recently withdrew. He had participated as an attorney in several sensational murder cases in the Panhandle during the past year.

Tex Thornton, widely known nitroglycerine expert and oil well shooter of the U. S. Torpedo Company, inspected the wreckage and said positively the blast was not caused by gasoline or dynamite, but that either nitroglycerine or TNT had been used.

Mrs. Payne and her son were driving towards the downtown district and were about 10 blocks from home when the blast occurred. The boy's left side, next to the driver, was badly mangled. An arm and a leg were almost torn from his body. Police believed the infernal machine had been placed under the driver's seat.

All available men of the sheriff's office, police department and district attorneys' office were working on the case.

Payne told police he was mystified and could not account for the explosion. He agreed with police that the charge had been planted, but whether it was the work of an insane person, prank player or some one seeking revenge was a matter of conjecture. Payne said he did not know of any enemies who would resort to such drastic measures.

Payne walked to his office this morning, although a distance of three miles. The family was planning a vacation and the automobile was left for Mrs. Payne to complete her shopping.

The coroner had withheld his verdict pending a further investigation.

DAVIS GETS FIVE YEARS SUSPENDED SENTENCE FRIDAY

EASTLAND, June 27.—(AP)—Thomas Davis was found guilty of the murder of Lucian Shook and given five years suspended sentence by a jury in district court today.

Davis had been given death at his first trial the judgment having been reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals. He is also under indictment for the murder of Leon Shook, bodies of the Shook brothers having been found near a cabin that occupied in the oil fields, in September, 1928.

Joe H. Jones county attorney, said he would oppose bail for Davis in the pending case, and no date for trial on that indictment had been set.

The jury had deliberated since Early Wednesday night.

Clyde Thompson also was indicted for murder for his alleged part in the double-slaying.

Woodrow Davis, brother of Thomas, testified that he and his brother had gone with Thompson to get the Shook brothers to go hunting with them. He said Thompson had killed the Shooks with a gun he had taken from the Davis home and that his only explanation of the double killing was:

"I wanted to see them kick."

Bodies of the Shooks were found several days after they had been murdered. Marks showed that after having shot the men were beaten on their heads.

At the time the crime was committed, Thomas Davis was 17 and his brother, Woodrow, 11. Thompsan was 18. Leon Shook was 20 and Lucian 25.

Sam Davis, father of the Davis brothers, testified at the trial that Thomas was abnormal.

ALLEGED ATTACKER OF YOUNG TEACHER SENTENCED DEATH

DUNCAN, Okla, June 28.—(AP)—A jury here today recommended a death sentence for E. S. Hembree, Grady county farmer, whom it found guilty of attacking and shooting Miss Leota Bosley, Gainesville, Texas, a young school teacher.

The jury deliberated approximately an hour today. two hour session last night did not result in agreement.

A. Y. Hembree, brother of the convicted man, faces trial on like charges.

The attack was alleged to have occurred near Loco several months ago. Miss Bosley was in a critical condition for months from a bullet wound received when one of her alleged attackers attempted to shoot her escort.

E. S. Hembree in 1923 was pardoned by Gov. Walton from a life sentence for murder at Antlers. Previously he had been paroled by Gov. Robinson, after being committed to state prison in November, 1915.

His brother pleaded guilty here to a car theft charge in 1921 and was given a five-year suspended sentence. The parole was revoked April 20, 1923, and he was committed to the reformatory at Granite.

Formal sentence will be passed Wednesday.

Suit Alleges Illegal Votes Paris Election

PARIS, June 27.—(AP)—Alleging 104 illegal votes were cast in the city election of April 1 in which Mayor J. Morgan Crook was declared reelected by 25 votes, attorneys for T. J. Record, his opponent, today filed suit in district court asking for a recount of the votes in two boxes.

The petition alleged Crook was unlawfully holding office and asked damages of $100 per month since April 1, this amount being the difference in the salaries of mayor and city secretary, Record holding the latter office.

Record's petition named 54 persons he alleged voted illegally and alleged 50 other illegal votes were cast by persons unnamed:

Other allegations were there was electioneering at the polls by election officers and ballots were prepared for persons able to mark their own.

Court officials said the contest could not be heard before early in August when the next term of court convenes.

SLAYER ESTRANGED WIFE AND PARENTS CONDEMNED TO DIE

BROWNWOOD, June 27.—(AP)—Joe Shields was given death for the murder of his estranged wife, Mrs. Opal Mae Shields, by a jury in district court today.

The verdict was returned at 9:40 a. m., after the case was given to the jury last night at 1 o'clock.

Shield also was indicted for the murder of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shields, the three having been shot to death at Brookesmith, a small community near here, last month.

Mrs. Shield was killed as she sat on the front porch of her home, and her aged mother and father were shot as they came across the street from their store after they had heard the shots that took the life of their daughter.

Shield, an oil field worker, surrendered to officers at Coleman a few hours after the triple killing and was quoted as having said he "made a good job of it."

He was placed in jail at Brownwood, but later removed to a neighboring county for safe-keeping after Sheriff M. H. Denman said he feared possible mob violence. Feeling in the Brookesmith community was tense.

Witnesses for Shield testified to his "peculiarities" over a long period, laying the predicate for an insanity plea, and many, including State Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, described the life of the defendant's father, who was killed in 1911.

One witness said the elderly Shield had "gone crazy over religion and whisky," and described an incident when he occupied a pulpit "with the Bible and whisky on the rostrum and a Winchester near."

Receives Verdict Calmly

Shield received the verdict calmly and showed little emotion but his aged mother and other relatives broke down soon after it was read by T. J. Bush, foreman of the jury.

The jury took five ballots before retiring last night, jurors said. Two of the ballots were on the insanity issue, the second one showing the jurors unanimous in believing Shield was sane when he killed his wife. Three ballots were cast on the punishment to be fixed the first being 10 to 2 for death and the next two standing 11 to 1 for death. The first ballot this morning showed the jury unanimous for the extreme penalty.

ANOTHER ROOM TO BE ADDED EMMETT SCHOOL BUILDING

Plans are being made by trustees of the Emmett school for the construction of an additional room on the present building and the school is to be increased from a three teacher to a four-teacher school during the 1930-31 session.

The three-room, three-teacher school was especially crowded last year and with the beginning of school this year when the six-year-old children start to school, present facilities will be inadequate.

Efforts are to be made to secure a substantial appropriation from the rural aid school fund for the cost of the new addition.

The new addition to the building is scheduled to be made during the summer.

OHIO ROBBER AND KILLER'S CAREER ENDED IN CHAIR

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 28.—(AP)—Death in the electric chair today closed the long criminal career of George Williams, 68 year old robber and killer.

Maintaining to the last the defiant attitude that had characterized his actions since he was sentenced to die for the murder of a Cleveland policeman, Williams entered the death chamber shortly after midnight and was dead at 12:15. He was one of the most unruly prisoners ever placed in the death house. He cursed the guards and threatened to kill them. Recently he had insisted that he would "beat the chair." Several days ago a blackjack was found in the death house and it was believed he might have planned an attempt to kill himself with it.

WISCONSIN LAND PROBERS FRANKLY ADMIT STATE WRONG

AUSTIN, June 27.—(AP)—The Wisconsin delegation sent to Texas by Gov. Kohler to investigate possibilities of land in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, frankly admitted, folowing the three day tour of inspection that people of Wisconsin had been grossly misinformed as to its real worth, Gov. Moody said today.

The governor predicted an amicable adjustment of differences of the two states as the result of the tour and stated the Wisconsin delegation was astounded at the tremendous possibilities afforded by the Valley. The governor said members of the Wisconsin committee had no conception of the earning power of citrus orchards until growers offered their books showing the amounts that had been exchanged from operation of the orchards.

Following the tour the Wisconsin delegation joined in a statement that the Valley had unusual resources and possibilities and that the controversy arose simply because the residents of Wisconsin did not have an adequate conception of the opportunities of the region.

PARIS, June 7.—(AP)—The thermometer had dropped to a minimum of 72 degrees from 103 yesterday, a cloudy sky and a stiff breeze bringing relief from excessive heat of the past few days.

GEORGIA METHODIST CONGREGATION ASKS CANNON TO RESIGN

NEWMAN, Ga., June 28.—(AP)—Resolutions asking the immediate resignation of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, have been adopted at the quarterly conference of the First Methodist church here.

There was only one dissenting vote on the resolutions which were offered by R. O. Jones, layman. Objection to the whitewashing of charges against the bishop at the general conference in Dallas was included in the resolutions.

Laymen attending the conference stated that it was the sentiment of the gathering that other churches throughout Methodism should follow suit and ask the bishop's resignation in view of the stock market gambling charge against him.

MINISTER KILLED AT CLOSE SERVICE AT HIS MISSION

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 28.—(AP)—Frank Ross, 37, wanted for the fatal shooting of the Rev. Edgar R. Wood and the wounding of two members of his congregation last night, was arrested today on a road on the outskirts of the city. He had a pistol in his possession, but offered no resistance to arrest.

Police said that Ross made a statement in which he admitted that he went to the mission intending to murder Wood, his wife, Mrs. Mildred Ross, the latter's sister, Leona Kuhn, and Leonard Towe. He said, according to police, he had been practicing in a woods, shooting at a target.

The tragedy occurred at the close of services in a small Tenth street mission which the Rev. Mr. Wood has conducted for several years.

As the evangelist uttered his closing prayer and stepped down from the platform, Ross, according to witnesses rushed forward and fired a single shot into the minister's body. He fell dead.

Wheeling about, Ross fired point blank at Mrs. Ross, who was sitting in a front pew.

Towe, sitting in a rear seat in the Hall, attempted to stop Ross and was shot in both legs.

Mrs. Ross and her sister, Leona Kuhn, had been attending the mission services for several months. Ross objected, and, it is said, became particularly bitter because on several occasions Towe called at his home to drive Mrs. Ross and Miss Kuhn to the mission in his automobile.

On April 4 Towe had Ross arrested for striking him when he stopped at the Ross home for Miss Kuhn. A few days later Ross was arrested on complaint of the Rev. Mr. Wood for having broken up his services.

Three Brothers Are Sentenced to Prison For Life In Oklahoma

DUNCAN, Okla., June 28.—(AP)—John, Manuel and Jeff Cunningham, brothers, were sentenced to life imprisonment today by Judge M. W. Pugh when they pleaded guilty to murder charges in connection with the slaying in a gunfight near here May 12, of Sheriff W. A. Williams.

A fourth brother, Forrest Cunningham, was fatally wounded in the gunfight, and another officer and two of the brothers were wounded.

Manuel Cunningham, paralyzed by a bullet in his spine, was brought from a hospital to receive sentence. His brother, John, was barely able to limp to the court room. Police Chief I. B. Gossett still is in a hospital, unable to leave his bed, as a result of wounds received in the gun fight.

Th sentences wrote a final chapter in a confessed life of crime for the Cunninghams, woh have admitted Manitou and Hooker, Okla., and red bank robberies at Hastings, Kiowa, Kas.

Their cousin, Clifford Mirelan, who with Jeff Cunningham, recently was taken at Gunnison, Colo., received a ten year sentence at Frederick, Okla., on a plea of guilty to participation in the Manitou robbery.

Members of a respected Southwest Oklahoma family, the brother for years were not suspected of crimes. The gun fight north of here last month, which followed at attempt to rob a filling station near Lawton, exposed their career.

The three brothers sentenced today blamed the slain Cunningham as the leader of their band. He was the only one with the education necessary to divide the loot from the robberies, they said.

Officers said the Cunninghams would be taken at once to the penitentiary at MacAlester.

CARD OF THANKS.

Blooming Grove, June 27, 1930.

We desire to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us in our sad hours. Also the doctors and nurses who put forth every effort to save our dear mother and wife. We hope none of you will ever have this experience.

BEN C. RICHARDS DENIED REHEARING IN APPEALS COURT

DALLAS, June 27.—(AP)—Ben C. Richards local insurance man and at one-time of considerable political influence in this section today had been denied a rehearing by the court of criminal appeals at Austin of his conviction carrying three years in the penitentiary for forgery.

The charge against Richards resulted from a $1,000 wager placed on the outcome of the race between Earle B. Mayfield and Tom Connally for the United States senate in 1928.

A conroversy over the bet cost Orville L. Matthews, stakeholder, his life. He was shot to death by V. Ray Adams of Bell county, who had an interest in the proceeds of the wager. Adams was acquitted of Matthews' murder at Corsicana.

Lynch Davidson to Speak at Dawson on Thursday, July 10

Hon. Lynch Davidson of Houston will make an address in Dawson, the morning of July 10, according to announcement Saturday by A. A. Allison, close personal friend of Mr. Davidson.

Mr. Davidson will arrive in Corsicana early in the morning of the speaking and will be honor guest at a breakfast here given by his friends.

The nature of Mr. Davidson's Dawson address was not revealed by Mr. Allison.

"ONCE I was worried. Mealtime was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes, but John simply would not eat—just 'minced' at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy. I began to fear he was 'slipping.' What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood-tonic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended S.S.S. He told me that S.S.S. was a great blood tonic; that it had been successful for over 100 years; that it was made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and was beneficial to the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the processes by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well, in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take S.S.S."

It is a known fact that when a man's system gets "run-down," he hasn't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play. It is dangerous to let the red-blood-count remain below normal.

S.S.S. is daily helping people to regain their strength. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. It promotes a keen appetite, gives vitality to the body, clears the skin and wards off diseases. All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S.
